Poor Roads Keep Iowa From Voting on Highway Bonds

(Special To The News)

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 23.—I am here in Iowa looking over the future Californians.

We are picking the best. We are not letting 'em all come like they used to. It's restricted immigration now.

This state has been trying for seven straight years to get an election held to vote on bonds for roads. The election requires half the voters to vote.

Well the roads have been so bad they have never been able to get the voters to town. So now they have called an election for the month of May. That gives them an entire month to come in on horse back and vote.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

New Castle's industrial skies continue to brighten. Announcement was made yesterday at the plant of the National Radiator Company, on the East Side that the large force now employed at the plant would go on the full six-day week schedule next Monday. The men have been working five days a week for some time. With the announcements of the past few weeks, New Castle is fast making strides towards normal industrial conditions in the near future.

Tonight's the night! Lawrence County Bar Association members will gather around the banquet tables at The Castleton, for the annual banquet. The program tonight will be in the nature of a gridiron affair, and no information has as yet been divulged as to who is to get the roasting. Probably will be few escape.

Lindbergh, when he flew the air mail Monday and Tuesday must have been veritably swamped, for it seems that almost every stamp collector in the country was after an envelope or two, cancelled for the flying colonel's ship. In the city, Jack Dunfee, of the Bell Telephone company was able to get about a dozen of the Lindbergh cancellations. The markings, which are done in the form of a horse shoe, carry the slogan: "Lindbergh again flies the air mail," and the envelopes were mailed from St. Louis, Springfield, Peoria and Chicago.

About time for someone to rise up and remark that robins never do go south for the winter. This is the usual line of procedure for the annual spring controversy. After a number of reports have been received of robins having been seen, with their accompanying forecast of an early spring, some practical soul comes along and declares that robins stay north all winter. We refuse to argue.

George Loudon's letter in The News last night, concerning Lindy's future, was a most interesting one. It gave a slant on Lindy coming from one acquainted with the flying game, and other features of aeronautics. Loudon is at Langley Field, Va., in the U. S. Army Air Corps, and is a New Castle man.

Sometimes the minions of the law have a sense of humor that cannot be beat. One of the aldermen, in answer to an advertising letter, wrote this to John L. Slack, manager of The Castleton: "Gentlemen," the letter read, "Unfortunately the people who call on me would not want to stop at The Castleton. They would prefer the Hotel Reynolds, rear of the court house on Court street." Mr. Slack thinks that this is quite a classic, and should be filed for future reference.

Some automobile traders, so one of them reports to this column, are becoming much like their spiritual fathers, the horse traders. One of them recently took in a cow on a car. And, without looking at the cow, he

Young School Girl Seized Along Road By Unknown Youth

Officers Hunting For Man In Episode On Mercer Road Wednesday

GIRL MAKES ESCAPE AFTER BEING SEIZED

Youth Driving Car With Ohio License Is Being Sought By Officers

Residents of that section south of Wilmington Junction known as Pleasant Valley are aroused today over seizure on Wednesday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock of Helen Spiker, age 14, daughter of Mrs. John Spiker of R. D. 5.

The seizure was made by an unknown man, age about 25, dressed in light trousers and a lumber jack coat. He was about medium height, had blue eyes, light hair, and was driving a Chevrolet coupe, with an Ohio license tag.

Seen There Before

The car in which he was driving has been seen in the vicinity during the last few days, the car usually being parked on the road leading to the Mitchell school from the Mercer road.

On Wednesday afternoon the Spiker girl was coming along the road from the Pleasant Valley school towards her home, when a strange man accosted her. "Come on back I want to show you a sick dog of mine," he said.

The little girl refused to go, telling tim to call some men who were in a nearby farm house. The man insisted that she go, and when she refused again he started to drag her.

Breaking away from him, the girl started to run but tripped over the root of a tree. The man grabbed her again and she screamed. The screams attracted the attention of neighboring farmers and they began coming to her rescue.

Man Gets Away

Releasing his hold upon the girl the man ran for his car and jumping into it, started over the ash road leading to the Wilmington road. He made his get away before anyone could get his license number but officers were called immediately on the case and began an investigation.

The spot where the seizure occurred is on the Mercer road, and from New Castle one approaches it by using the old road out beyond Highland avenue, through Coaltown. Officers are continuing their investigation today in the hope of apprehending the assailant.

Mrs. Gatlin Is Given Freedom

Young North Carolina Bride Is Acquitted Of Murder Of Father

GOES BACK TO HOME; IN JAIL SIX MONTHS

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Feb. 23.—Youthful Mrs. Alma Petty Gatlin, 19-year-old Reidsville beauty contest winner, sobbed with happiness today when she discussed her acquittal of a charge of slaying her aged father and concealing his body in the basement of their home for more than a year.

The young bride of Reidsville's fire chief, weary after six months' confinement in the county jail at Wentworth, and the ordeal of her gruelling trial, was back among friends today in her home town.

"I knew the jury would believe my story, and I never once thought there would be a miscarriage of justice," the girl said. "But sometimes there was an awful, unexplainable fear of the electric chair. Just suppose——"

Mrs. Gatlin was the recipient of literally hundreds of missives of congratulations this morning. They came from far and near, from all sections of the country.

After she walked from the courtroom at 10:15 last night a free woman, she came to her former home here, nine miles from the courtroom scenes at Wentworth. She braced herself to receive the verdict, and when the foreman said "not guilty", collapsed, sobbing, into the hands of her young husband.

Unconfirmed Reports Say Lindbergh And Major Lanphier Plan New Air Line

Chicago To New York Via Detroit Said To Be Contemplated; Principals Silent

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Feb. 23.—Reports concerning organization of a new Chicago-New York airway via Detroit, to be headed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Major Thomas G. Lanphier, were circulated today with the "mystery visit" to Detroit of Lindbergh.

Flying with as much secrecy as possible, Lindbergh, with four St. Louis capitalists, arrived last night at Selfridge Field, where the party went into seclusion in Major Lanphier's quarters.

"My mission here is a purely private one and I do not wish to be interviewed," Lindbergh told a reporter over the phone. Later Major Lanphier was asked if he and Lindbergh planned to organize the new airway, as reported.

No Statement

"I do not wish to say anything," Lanphier replied. "I will not deny or affirm the report."

Recent public remarks of Major Lanphier, however, lend color to reports concerning the deal.

Newspaper dispatches from Buffalo Tuesday quoted Lanphiers' announcement of plans for a new Chicago-New York air line via Detroit, Buffalo and Ithaca, N. Y.

Lanphier was quoted as saying the Senate Coal Committee Reaches Pittsburgh Today For Investigation

DIRE SITUATION CAUSES UNREST

Bituminous Strike Since Last April Has Occasioned Much Suffering

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—The Senate coal committee came to Pennsylvania today to inspect the chief battleground in the bitter economic war being waged between the soft coal miners and operators.

The battle has been on since last April, when union miners laid down their tools after the operators declined to renew the minimum wage agreement of $7.50 a day. The sharpest fighting has centered in the Pittsburgh district. Here are located the largest bituminous coal producers in the country. These operators, declaring they cannot buck the low-wage competition in the open shop mines south of the Ohio river in West Virginia and Kentucky, have imported thousands of non-union laborers to keep production going.

No end of the clash is in sight. Operators here declared they won't negotiate with the union if they aren't

TWELVE FIREMEN IN NARROW ESCAPE

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Twelve firemen narrowly escaped death today while fighting a spetacular fire in a vacant skyscraper on Wacker Drive. A cornice of the building fell among the fire fighters.

The blaze did little damage as the building was waiting to be torn down. Other property, including the elevated structure, was endangered for a time. Eighteen companies and a fire tug battled several hours before the flames were brought under control.

WOMAN IS ROBBED OF MORE THAN $9,000

Police Believe Lure Of Marriage Was Held Out To Miss Brown

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—New York and New Jersey detectives declared today that they were close on the trail of the man who drugged and robbed Miss Margaret Brown, cultured New York governess and burned her alive in a lonely spot in Somerset County, N. J.

Hunt For Man.

Although detectives declined to reveal the identity of the suspect, it is known that they are searching for Arthur Schwartzkopf, a former convict, for questioning in the case. A Mrs. Miller governess intimate of the slain woman, recognized his rogues' gallery photograph and declared he resembled a man whom she had seen in Miss Brown's company.

Miss Brown had told friends that she planned to marry a doctor. Schwartzkopf, it was learned, recently had been posing as a doctor.

It is believed that the murderer of the spinster robbed her of $9,000, her life savings, after promising to take her to California on a wedding trip.

All Victims Of Mine Disaster Now Rescued

(International News Service)

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—The last of twelve victims of the Kinloch mine explosion were brought to the surface today. The blast took a toll of ten lives in the Kinloch mine, owned by the Valley Camp Coal Co., and two lives in the adjoining mine of a brick company.

The last bodies recovered were those of Knute Beck and Louis Veagul, taken from the brick company mine where they were killed by gasses penetrating from the adjoining mine. Previously the bodies of Charles Wise and Andrew Streter were taken from the Kinloch mine.

Repair work in the wrecked mine began at once with the rescue operations at an end. Meanwhile, state mine inspectors investigated the cause of the explosion.

Close Covered Bridge At Kennedy's Mills

County commissioners have posted notices on the old covered bridge at Kennedy's mills, closing it to public travel.

This action was taken owing to the fact that an examination of the bridge has shown that it is unsafe.

It is one of the oldest, and one of the few remaining covered bridges in Lawrence county. No exact data is available as to the age of the bridge, but it is said to have been built around 100 years ago. Some parts of it are still in good shape, but other parts are in such a condition that an accident is liable to happen when big loads cross.

The commissioners do not want to take any chances of damage suits and have thought it best to close the bridge. As there is no way of fording the Slippery Rock creek at this point other roads will have to be used by travelers until a new bridge is built.

The commissioners propose to replace the bridge with a steel structure. The span will be about 85 feet long. The proposition will be brought before the next grand jury, and efforts will be made to have the new bridge completed during the coming summer.

Three Are Killed As Express Train Crashes Into Auto

(International News Service)

QUAKERTOWN, Pa., Feb. 23.—A woman and two men were killed instantly here early today when their auto was struck by a southbound Reading railway express train. The wife of one of the victims escaped by jumping from the car a few seconds before the crash.

The group was enroute to work when their machine stalled on Walt's crossing here in the path of the oncoming 6:48 a. m. Bethlehem-Philadelphia express. The victims were badly mangled and the car hurled 200 feet and left a mass of twisted wreckage by the impact.

The dead: Andrew Andres, 55, a grocery clerk, his wife, Amelia, 45, a cigar maker and Oscar Musselman, 51, also a cigar maker.

Mrs. Oscar Musselman, also a cigar firm employe, escaped death by jumping from the car just before it was struck. The others were unable to get free of the car in time.

The group had left their homes in Bucks county in a car owned by the grocery store where Andres was employed and were nearing their places of employment when the tragedy occurred. Andres was driving Musselman is survived by a son and his widow while Mr. and Mrs. Andres are survived by a son, George of Bethlehem.

The bodies were taken to a local undertaking parlor to await action of the Bucks county coroner.

Multi-Millionaire Head Of Standard Oil Of Indiana Released On Bond

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The writ of habeas corpus by which Col. Robert W. Stewart, multi-millionaire head of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, secured his release from arrest by the U. S. Senate two weeks ago was dismissed today by Justice Jennings Bailey in district supreme court.

The court's action automatically remanded the oil magnate to the custody of the Senate, and Deputy Sergeant-at-Arms John J. McGrain was on hand to take charge of him.

Stewart's attorneys, however, immediately gave notice of appeal, and Justice Bailey fixed the bond at $5,000, which was immediately posted.

Thus Stewart gains his freedom from physical detention until such time as the court of appeals passes upon his case. It is the intention of the oil man's attorneys to fight the case clear to the United States supreme court, this insuring a long, drawn-out legal struggle of perhaps a year's duration or more.

No extended opinion accompanied the court's vacation of the writ. Justice Bailey mounted his bench

Shelby, N. C., Youth Heroically Gives Life In Warning Guests Of Fire

LOSS IN BLAZE IS NEAR MILLION

Two Others Die In Fire In Addition To Clerk; Several Others Hurt

(International News Service)

SHELBY, N. C., Feb. 23.—Three persons were killed, one was seriously injured, a dozen others sustained minor injuries and property damage estimated in excess of $1,000,000 was caused here early today when fire destroyed the Central Hotel.

The dead: J. R. Henderson and H. H. Carmichael, of Charlotte, and Henry Kerr, hotel clerk.

Clerk Warns Patrons

Kerr, the youthful hotel clerk, gave his life in rescuing some 40 odd guests from the burning structure, making his way up and down the smoke-filled halls warning the guests by knocking on their doors and sounding the alarm.

Seriously burned, the clerk's body was removed from the hotel and taken to a nearby hospital, where he died an hour later.

A. B. Stagg, of Charlotte, was seriously injured when he leaped from a third floor to escape the flames. He was not expected to recover.

About a dozen of the other guests were burned or injured but none seriously.

Shoppers Throng New Castle Stores

Semi-Annual Dollar Day Brings Large Crowd Into Shopping Area

Downtown New Castle is thronged with men and women today down for the Dollar Day bargains which are being offered. At nine o'clock the streets were busy with people and at noon one might have imagined it was Saturday, so great was the throng.

Practically every merchant in the downtown section is offering bargains for Dollar Day and buyers are taking advantage of them. The day is one that is sponsored periodically by the Chamber of Commerce and each time it is put on sees an increasing number of people in the stores from the various sections of New Castle and from the outlying district.

The weather is considerably warmer and the threatened icy streets which seemed inevitable last night are today clear of most of the ice and snow.

Hoover Proclaims His Support For 18th Amendment

Letter To Senator Borah Gives In Brief His Attitude On Dry Measure

FAVORS ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS EFFECTIVELY

Views Are Expressed In Letter In General But Do Not Go Into Detail

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Herbert Hoover proclaimed himself today to be a friend of the eighteenth amendment and a believer in the enforcement of laws enacted under that far-reaching instrument—but further than that he would not go in answering the demands of prohibitionists that he declare himself in detail with relation to the wet-and-dry question.

The foremost candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency expressed his prohibition views generally, but not in detail, in a brief letter of less than 150 words, addressed to Senator William E. Borah (R) of Idaho, who is seeking to pin all presidential candidates down to definite commitments upon the wet-and-dry question.

Some of Borah's pointed questions, Mr. Hoover ignored entirely.

Hoover said flatly he favored retention of the Eighteenth amendment, but he did not so declare himself with relation to the Volstead act. He contented himself on this score by merely stating that he was for the amendment and favored the enforcement of all laws enacted to carry it out.

The text of his reply to Borah follows:

Hoover's Letter

"My Dear Mr. Senator:

"Upon my return to Washington I have taken up your letter.

"I feel that the discussion of public questions by reply to questionnaires is likely to be unsatisfactory and often times leads to confusion rather than clarity. Replies to the scores of such inquiries in many questions are impossible.

CHECKS RECEIVED BY TREASURER FOR LOCAL GAS TAX

County Treasurer Adda M. Smiley today received two checks from State Treasurer Lewis for the county's share of the gasoline tax for the past six months. One of the checks was for $1,693.78 and the other for $20,921.83 or a total of $22,615.61. This money, received by the county goes into the general fund. It indicates that Lawrence county citizens are doing their share toward burning up the gas.

A dollar today buys a load of hay, a yard of milk or a square of tripe, a pair of gloves with a tassel on, a walking stick or a load of pipe. Its Dollar Day and the folks are out, and they have their money to lay right down, and the streets are full and the stores are full and there's plenty of action here in town. Its Dollar Day and I only wish I could buy a suit for a dollar bill, but should I ask it the merchant man would think me goofy or badly ill. But for other things that are usually, considerably more than a single buck, a dollar does wonders in many ways, which gives the buyers a lot of luck. Its Dollar Day and the folks are out examining bargains in every store, and they'll carry away all the stuff they buy, the weather is warmer, forty-four.

United Miners Win Skirmish

Operators Rescind Order Temporarily Barring Union Officials From Mine Property

UNION MEN WILL ACCOMPANY PROBERS

By KENNETH CLARK,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—The United Mine Workers won the first skirmish over the soft coal operators in a session before the special Senate Coal committee today.

At the committee's request the operators agreed to rescind temporarily a general order which had barred union officials from the properties and camps of the largest non-union properties.

Shortly after the committee arrived here J. D. A. Morrow, president of the Pittsburgh Coal company, and Horace F. Baker, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation, protested against any union officials accompanying the inspection, party to their properties.

Order Recinded

A heated but brief argument ensued. Senator Gooding (R) of Idaho, said that fair play demanded that both sides be impartially represented. Morrow and Baker then agreed to rescind the order.

"We are here for an impartial investigation," said Gooding. "We feel that the union officials and the operator's officials should accompany us, if they so desire."

Gooding added, however, that the committee would not bring the mine superintendents and the union officials into contact.

The committee decided to hear the Union's side first. Later in the week the operators will be called to tell their story of strike conditions.

After Morrow and Baker left, the committee held a short session with Philip Murray, international vice-president of the union, and P. T. Fagan, president of the local district. Murry presented an itinerary for today's inspection tour which called for the committee to go to the camps in Coverdale, and the Castle Shannon mines numbers 2, 3 and 4.

STEWART WRIT DISMISSED BY JUDGE BAILEY

promptly at 10 o'clock and within three minutes announced his decision.

Attachment Justified

"In my opinion," said the justice, "the grounds upon which the petitioner (Stewart) refused to testify (before the Senate oil committee) were frivolous and without legal basis, and his attachment (by the Senate) was justified."

Stewart's lawyers will have 60 days in which to perfect their appeal from Justice Bailey's decision. Unless this work is expedited—which no one believes it will be—it is probable that the case cannot be reached for argument until early next autumn. Meanwhile, Stewart will remain at liberty under the $5,000 bond. He cannot, however, leave the country except by permission of the court.

The status of Stewart and his friend, Harry F. Sinclair, has become largely the same as a result of today's court action. Sinclair has been tried before a jury for contempt of the United States Senate and sentenced to three months in jail. Stewart has been arrested for the same contempt—refusal to answer questions concerning the Continental Trading Company's $3,000,000 "slush fund", propounded by the Senate oil committee.

Lindy May Interest Ford.

"Whether the company now operating re-routes its planes or not, there will soon be a new company operating over the new route, Lanphier declared in an address before an aircraft luncheon of the greater Buffalo Advertising club.

Asked if Edsel Ford was interested in this proposed new route and that he and Lindbergh intended to see Ford about it today, Lanphier replied:

"I don't wish to say anything."

The party who flew from St. Louis with Lindbergh in a Ryan monoplane included: H. M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Harry K. traded it to another dealer for a used car.

Men who sell stamps in drug stores and hotels did more than a rushing business yesterday, for some people forgot that the post office would be closed for a holiday. But soon the supply at many of the stands ran out.

Autoists who were out last night encountered probably the worst night of the winter for driving. A heavy slushy snow fell for several hours. Weather conditions changed during the night however, and with a warm wave, practically all of the snow and slush was gone this morning.

Boy scouts over the county, in cooperation with the game protector, Frank Johnston, are doing a mighty fine work, in the providing of bird shelters, and placing of food for the birds, in the woods, this winter. While the winter has largely been an open one, establishing some 500 feeding places for the game birds at various places in the county, is a big aid to keeping the birds in this district over the winter.

Pa New's February 29 party continues to grow. The list of those in this locality celebrating the unique birthday next week, one that comes once every four years, or once every eight years, will be printed on Wednesday. Still time to send in an entry.

The Christmas tree on the Public Square is still up: in fact, Pa Newc has just about quit noticing it, for he is beginning to believe that it grows there. However, it is getting to be in a sadly bedraggled condition, and it should be removed, as should the wreaths which were placed on the soldier's monument to commemorate the holidays.

These are the days that pedestrians do not have an equal chance, for, try as they will, they cannot splash passing autoists. And, one will always notice, most of the splashing is done by motorists who are exceeding the city speed limit, and they seem to enjoy the discomfiture of the people on the sidewalk.

Announcement today that the county commissioners have decided to close the old covered bridge at Kennedy's mills, means that it will not be long until all of these picturesque old bridges in the county will have passed into history. There are still a few around the county, probably the largest being the structure at Edenburg over the Mahoning river.

Sure spring is here! Saw strawberries on the market today.

Dollar day in New Castle stores brought a large crowd of shoppers out. Downtown streets were alive with the crowds, and many of the folks came bright and early to get the better advantage of the bargains offered.

similar to the one seen shortly before the flaming "human torch" was discovered in New Jersey last Monday night, her clothing and body saturated with oil.

Miss Brown would have been 41 years old today. She was described as quite attractive.

Last Monday Miss Brown told her employer, Mrs. James Gillespie of this city, that she intended to visit her sick sister in California. Later in the day she told her niece, Miss Mary Brown of Fort Lee, N. J., that she was going to Florida. Police believe that the spinister's suitor prompted her to make these conflicting statements in the hope of covering up his trail after her death. They also believe he burned her alive in order to hamper identification.

Mrs. Gillispie's little daughter revealed that the spinister went riding with a man known as "Doctor" in a blue sedan and that the pair met in Central park.

sincerity and your interest in the essential question, I will, however, say again that I do not favor the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment. I stand, of course, for the efficient, vigorous and sincere enforcement of the laws enacted thereunder. Whoever is chosen president has under his oath the solemn duty to pursue this course.

"Our country has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far-reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively.

"Cordially yours,

HERBERT HOOVER."

Borah's Letter

Borah's letter to Hoover was dated February 9, and it asked four specific questions, to wit:

"1. Do you favor incorpirating in the next National Republican platform a plank specifically referring to the Eighteenth amendment to the constitution and pledging the candidates and the party to a vigorous, faithful and effective enforcement of the amendment and laws enacted to carry into effect the constitutional amendment.

"2. What is your attitude and what would be your attitude toward the amendment and its enforcement in case you are nominated and elected?

"3. Do you favor the enactment into law of the principle embodied in the New York referendum that Congress should modify the federal act (Volstead law) to enforce the Eighteenth amendment so that the same shall not prohibit the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation or exportation of beverages which are not in fact intoxicating, as determined by the laws of the respective states? In other words, do you favor a program of legislation which will enable every state to determine for itself the alcoholic content of beverages to be manufactured, sold and transported throughout the country?

"4. Do you favor repeal of the Eighteenth amendment or the repeal of the Volstead act?"

Comment Later—Borah

"I will reserve my comment until later," said Senator Borah, after reading the Hoover letter. "I want to get all the replies in before I make any extended comment."

Borah revealed that after he has received replies from all candidates he plans to make a speaking tour, the replies furnishing him with the subject of his addresses. Borah has long planned to make prohibition one of the chief issues of the 1928 campaign, if he can do so.

Senator Frank B. Willis (R) of Ohio, who is about to engage in a bitter primary battle with Hoover for Ohio's delegates to the convention said:

"My own statement speaks for itself. I'm quite willing for my statement to be placed alongside that of Mr. Hoover, more than that I do not care to say."

Willis, who is the Anti-Saloon League's spokesman on the Senate floor, recently answered Borah's questionnaire with a complete "100 per cent bone dry" declaration. He favored increasing the drastic provisions of the prohibition laws.

This questionnaire was addressed not only to Hoover but to all others whose prominence as declared candidates has warranted a specific expression of their views. It was designed to put the candidates definitely, pointedly and irrevocably on record prior to the two conventions.

It was quickly noted that in his reply Hoover did not foreclose his future on any of the pointed questions which Borah propounded except those dealing with the repeal of the 18th amendment itself, and the broad question of law enforcement.

Hoover did not state specifically that he favored incorporation of any dry plank in the next Republican platform, although his general statement might be construed as covering Borah's first question. Similarly, the general expression of his views could be viewed as covering Borah's second question.

"Our country," he said, "has deliberately undertaken a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far reaching in purpose. It must be worked out constructively."

The last line, "it must be worked out constructively," was interpreted here as meaning that Hoover is keeping an open mind on the moot question of whether prohibition, as it is today under the Volstead act, has been a success. On the basis of his letter today, Hoover apparently is not willing to declare that it is, although he is convinced of the social and economic value of prohibition in a broad sense.

Another Cold Wave En Route

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—Western Pennsylvania will be visited tonight by the second cold wave within a week.

The weather bureau warned that the mercury will topple from the upper forties to between 10 and 15 degrees.

Rain changing to snow will precede the cold wave, it was predicted. The frigid spell will reach its peak Saturday. After that, milder weather will prevail.

SENATE PROBERS VISIT SCENE OF MINE DISORDERS

Considerable Suffering

The Pittsburgh battle sector stretches fan-like around the outer reaches of the city. The miners and camps, dirty and desolate, nestle in the valleys and sprawl in patternless shape on the bleak, wind-swept, winter-gripped hills that overlook the sluggish Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. The general picture is heavy with deep shadows, for men are figuratively at each other's throats in the grim business of eking out an existence.

As in all strife, there are wounds and suffering, so in this one there is no exception. The victims are chiefly the women and children of the striking miners. They have struck with their men folk in what they regard not only as a deadly serious battle for a principle, but for a decent, living wage to be wrested from the pits of the earth in nuggets of coal.

Operators admit the strike has brought hardships and suffering and deprivations, but say they can do nothing about it so long as the union persists in refusing even to talk about a lower wage.

Union officials go further. They charge the coal companies with employing "professional gunmen" who serve as coal and iron police under commission from Pennsylvania. They have prepared for the committee numerous affidavits telling of alleged "brutalities, atrocities and outrages against decency" committed by these police and by strikebreakers.

Plan Intensive Probe

Non-union workers, a large portion of them southern negroes, live in quarters maintained by the companies. These camps are closely guarded by police and, in many instances, the camps are surrounded by high fences to prevent strikebreakers from leaving.

Most of the 45,000 striking miners here have had to shift for themselves, although the union provided barracks for about 12,000 in western and central Pennsylvania. These barracks are built of unpainted pine boards. The wind whistles through them. Whole families, and it is not uncommon for a miners' family to run to 10 or 12 children, huddle in one or two rooms. Over each barrack a bright American flag flaps in the breeze.

General investigation of the conditions surrounding both strikers and non-union workers was mapped out here today by the committee, which is headed by Senator Gooding (R) of Idaho. Other members are Senator Pine of Oklahoma, Republican, and Wheeler of Montana and Wagner of New York, Democrats. Senator Metcalfe was ill and did not make the trip.

One of the first to meet the committee today was Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers, director of the union's fight here. He was accompanied by P. T. Fagan, president of the local union district.

Wenrich Admits Perjury To Save Self At Trial

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—Admitting he perjured himself in an attempt to save his life, Roy Wenrich, convicted slayer of Louis O. Knapp of Kane, former coal and iron policeman for the Vesta Coal company at Vestaburg, repudiated testimony at his own trial while testifying for the state today in the trial of Tony Lucetti, for the murder of Knapp and Paul R. Fox, his associate on the night of February 6, 1927.

Wenrich was sentenced to life imprisonment at the November term of the court for murdering Knapp.

Mrs. Brisbane was born in Springdale, Pa., March 27, 1865, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Confer. She had been a resident of New Castle for 30 years and was one of the best known and highly esteemed women of the community.

She was an active member of the Highland U. P. church and as long as her health permitted she attended the various services of the church. She was also a member of the Woman's Missionary society and the Naomi Circle of the church and the Wimodausis of this city.

Besides her husband she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Joseph Green of this city, and one son, Kenneth Brisbane at home. She also leaves two brothers, George Confer of Aspinwall, Pa., and James Confer of Parnassus, Pa.

Funeral services will be conducted from the family residence on Boyles avenue Friday, February 24, at 8 p. m.

Burial will take place in McKeesport Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The funeral party will leave this city Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

COAL OPERATORS AND UNION MINERS REFUSE PHOTOGRAPHS TOGETHER

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—Indicating the enmity existing between union officials and bituminous coal operators as the senate's strike investigation got under way here today, the two factions refused to be photographed together.

The Senate committee was photographed and representatives of the opposing factions were called upon to pose. They declined but finally posed in different rooms for separate photographs.

"Fox" Threatens Her

Threatened by a letter signed by "The Fox" that she would suffer the same fate as that of "Marion Parker of Los Angeles," Miss Mary Ruskey has been given a special police guard in Kansas City, Kas. Miss Ruskey, who has won prizes for her beauty, is a stenographer. In the letter "The Fox" said he became infatuated with her when he saw her in a Kansas City theater and that when he met her again she should not resist him. "Or you'll die like Marion Parker," he wrote. The letter aroused considerable concern, due probably to the fact that William Edward Hickman, slayer of the Los Angeles girl, formerly lived in Kansas City.

Entre Nous Club

Mrs. Arthur Armstrong of Butler avenue, received the members of the Entre Nous Club at her home Wednesday evening. Music and games formed the pastimes of the evening.

The guests were invited later to the dining room where a dainty lunch was served at an attractively arranged table, decorated with the nation's colors in keeping with George Washington's birthday. BETTER NOT SAY IT

BAD news travels faster than good news. There is an old saying, "No news is good news." Let a man be converted at a church service and there is no much of a stir, but let a resident be convicted of crime and the news leaps by word of mouth from one end of the community to the other.

How thoughtlessly unkind we sometimes are when acquaintances of ours suffer misfortune! Troubles are bound to come to us all in some shape or form, and what we say about others today may apply to us tomorrow. News is no respecter of persons.

We are prone to consider the ways of others not our ways when we should be watching out own step. What folks say of one another sometimes hurts more than anything they could have done. News, either good or bad, grows and becomes exaggerated and distorted with peddling. When the news is good it makes no material difference how it is exaggerated or distorted—it can never do anyone positive harm. But bad news given wings, may bring sorrow and ruin upon people who certainly are not deserving of a punishment beyond the penalty of their mistake.

More charity for others will mean charity for ourselves and we will gradually come to take a keener delight in reporting something good of some person than something bad. Good is constructive, bad is destructive. Just before you are about to let out a bit of "bad news," stop and think a moment. See if you can't think of something good to say in place of it. The chances are ten to one that you can and that you will.

ENDOWING DISEASE RESEARCH

CREATION of a national health institute is advocated by a number of large organizations, including the American Chemical Society. The plan contemplates a comprehensive campaign against what are described as the unconquered enemies of human health.

Under the supervision of the treasury department and the administration of the surgeon general, it is proposed to erect a suitable structure and to create adequate fellowships for individual scientists who have shown proficiency in research and investigation relating to the diseases of mankind. The facilities of the institute would be available to health authorities of the states, counties or municipalities for purposes of instruction and investigation.

This is a dream not likely to materialize in the near future, but one which is fully worthy of consideration. Without question it is one of the fundamental duties of government to guard the health of the people. For this purpose the federal government maintains a public health service. For this purpose states and cities spend part of their income for community control of disease. It is not possible to measure the return from these expenditures, but it is worth a great deal in dollars and cents.

A healthy citizen is an asset to the community. A sick one is a liability. Preventive medicine is not an old science, as such matters are measured, but already it has come to be recognized as one of infinite value. If the government, through an institute of health, could co-operate with the states in preventing disease it would be money well spent.

THAT HORNED TOAD

THE TEXAS experiment which proved that a horned toad can live for thirty-one years without food, or water, or air, is enormously cheering. It serves as one more item in substantiation of our growing belief that the Old Wives knew, after all, declares the New York World. Who, now, will undertake to prove that the salamander can really pass through fire unscathed? Who will essay to test the legend that gray mules never die?

Indeed, a host of pressing questions comes to mind. It is true that elephants never forget? That monkeys can talk on Fridays, as Shelley believed, but are too shrewd to indulge the privilege? That goats visit the devil and chat with him at every new moon? How true is the tale that the dying swan breaks his lifelong silence and bursts into beautiful song? Do crocodiles actually weep as they devour their victims? And do cats invariably land on their feet?

We await experiments upon these matters. And in the meantime we are quite content to believe that all of them are true.

DOING 207 MILES AN HOUR

CAPT. CAMPBELL does nearly 207 miles an hour—his speedometer read 220 during the run—on the sand at Daytona Beach; and memories of days not so long ago are stirred. Imagine this swift Blue Bird loosed today on some of the tracks where a mile a minute was a sensation a few years since.

Henry Ford tells in "My Life and Work" how he was really compelled to go in for auto racing. So, just a quarter of a century ago, he built the 999 and hired Barney Oldfield to run it. Barney was green at the game, but before that wonderful year 1903 was over he was reeling off records of a mile a minute or better over immense distances—even up to fifteen miles. Mr. Ford himself speeded a mate of the 999 over the ice, feeling none too happy at the bumps. That same year two men ran from San Francisco to New York in sixty-one days.

The best reflections come from thinking instead of looking into mirrors.

There are people who never lose an opportunity to enjoy being miserable.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:46. Sun rises tomorrow 6:41.

Leap year has its good points as well as those which are not so appealing, especially to the bashful fellow, who really does not care to be bothered with family duties. Frank Tinney, famous comedian, has just exercised one of those prerogatives. He declined the proposal of his former wife to be remarried. No doubt, he thought one trial enough for him.

The Hon. James J. Davis is to be with us on March 3. It is seldom that this city has had the privilege of having a cabinet officer as its guest. We should turn out and show him that we have a real city here.

Down in Florida they are making every effort to make speed records, which are at present held by Englishmen. The American contenders have been making fast time but as yet not quite good enough to take away the speed records from their English cousin. As for us, we prefer to live a while longer and will let the other fellow try for the speed records.

Charles Levere, aged 58, Evanston, Illinois, will celebrate his birthday anniversary by skipping rope. On his last birthday he skipped 12,000 times without a miss. He hopes to better that mark this year. That's a lot of energy to waste in showing how agile he is.

Judge Patterson of Blair county has made it quite plain that trial or companionate marriages have no standing in his court. This present day effort is apparently another effort to eliminate the sanctity of marriage. It seems but a waste of time to enter into any such agreements and it is time that a halt was called on such as feel interested along those lines.

The United States senate has seen fit to reject the alien property war claims bill, in spite of the fact that it is now ten years since the great war took place. Looks as if it is rather far fetched.

Eastland, Texas, reports a toad taken from a sealed cornerstone of the old county courthouse being demolished in that place that must have been in that place for 31 years. A toad could live a hundred years in that manner, 'tis said. But who would want to be a toad to do that.

That's a good move on the part of the state highway department to use simplified spelling in making signs for use along the highways of the state. It may be possible to read some of the signs now without the necesessity of stopping in order to tell what you should do and where you are going.

Rome, Italy, reports that the council of ministers has decided to exempt all fathers of families of seven or more members from taxation. It's only to apply to the wage earning classes. It sure would be a great lift and should keep the present government in power. Just look at the votes it could control in that manner.

In New York state, where the unemployment situation has become acute, the mayors of the cities and chairmen of boards of county supervisors have been advised by the governor to speed up public work to provide more jobs. It's a good idea and more or less of a necessity to relieve present conditions, but it certainly will not relieve the poor taxpayer.

We're rather glad we live in America and not in Czecho-Slovakia when we read that battalions of angry women, armed with horsewhips and sticks, belabored the men who had taken the place of their husbands in the coal mines in Brux. That may be a more effective way of accomplishing a desired result, but we prefer the methods of America in having the highest legislative body of the land investigate and bring about the results peaceably, if possible.

There's a certain dignified man of the city, who admits that he lost his dignity for a moment, at least, the other day when as he was walking along the street near his home a large sized dog, out for a stroll with his mistress, upset him, dignity and all, in its effort to rejoin its mistress from which it had strayed. Just another instance of how easily dignity may be toppled.

It's rather generally considered, these days, that the person who does not buy on the installment plan has loads of money or else must be queer. We'll almit that such a person is certainly a little bit out of date.

There is apparently little use or excuse for holding stag parties any more. What's the use with that home-brew stuff in so many of the cellars?

How much more pleasant bridge would be if people would be dumb instead of acting dumb.

There are those who say they bear no grudge against royalty, but there's many a poker player who would have much rather preferred something else to kings and queens.

There's one thing in favor of the wrist watch. It's surely a time-saver, especially where the employe is nervous about the time he or she should depart for lunch or be through. And then it saves many a neck. It's not necessary to stretch it to see the time of day.

A glance at the recent meeting of the school marms of the county proved one thing—that they all belong to the silk stocking set.

Never to have been mistaken would be deserving of a medal of honor. But the fellow who never made a mistake, you may be sure, is the fellow who never did anything. You will never find that fellow connected with anything worth while.

That equal honor should be accorded all men who died while serving with the American Expeditionary Forces during the World War is the ruling of the secretary of war. This ruling was the result of the suggestion that inscriptions on headstones in American cemeteries in Europe should designate the manner of death. The ruling is just, for every man, who died in the service over there, did so for the same cause.

We see that the farm population of New York state increased twelve thousand in 1927. It's the first gain since 1921. There would be fewer people starving or in bad financial condition today, if more could be persuaded to go back to the soil and do a little work.

Lawyers and indemnity agents who practice what is generally known as ambulance chasing are under fire in New York state. Invariably they fleece the worthy and exact large sums for the unworthy. When they are classified as was the leper of old and shunned by all, the world will be a better place in which to live.

The only things the average American male really fears are snakes, mad dogs and butlers.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

An unfortunate man, who bore the name of a proud family, and who had fallen into low waters through no fault of his own, managed to obtain access to a certain millionaire.

He began to tell his sorry tale—in fact, so graphically did he depict his wretched poverty and weary woes that the millionaire found himself affected as he never had been before. He was by birth a near relation of the unfortunate's, and it was only natural that he should feel for the poor man.

With tears in his eyes he rang for the butler, and, in a quivering voice remarked:

"John, be good enough to put this poor man out. He's breaking my heart!"

Not all criminals are crazy, but every one is a darned fool.

It's easy enough to be a success if you select a goal to fit your calibre.

Suggestion to the still small voice that guides the nations: "Louder!"

Another way to help the poor would be to sell license tags at a dollar down and a dollar a month.

Fable: Once there was a pretty man who didn't think his wife mighty lucky to have him.

Remember the chaps who always gave you a feeling of ghastly shame when they tried to be funny at a party? Aren't you glad they are radio announcers now?

Democracy has its little faults, but there's only one land where you can see a golfer stop to spit on his hands.

Of course democracy triumphed. Marshall Joffre can't pay his rent and Wilhelm can't spend his income.

Americanism: A conviction that none of those who disagree with you are typical Americans.

The way to regain an appetite is to fast, and it is probable that a three-months divorce would be sufficient in most cases.

If Darwin was right, maybe the turtle is one of nature's abortive efforts to produce a safe pedestrian.

Heathen are slow to accept the white man's religion, but they see the need of it after they adopt his vices.

Superman

By Idah McGlone Gibson

How prone we all are to think that the other fellow is not as intellectual, not as understanding, not as big as we are. We go to a moving picture that is a little above the average in its appeal, and we say when we speak of it to someone else, "Yes, I enjoyed it very much, but I do not think it will be a popular success."

All the while there is a little glow of satisfaction that we are above the multitude in our appreciation of human problems, human endeavor, human nature itself.

And yet if that picture shows a real human problem worked out in a real human way, all humanity will read the story and appreciate its worth.

Because if it be a phase of life honestly confessed and honestly treated all humanity will recognize it.

The great trouble with motion pictures up to date is that those who are making them are always playing down to their audiences. They are afraid, not particularly of the censors, but of the almighty dollar when if they could but realize it they would see that everyone will pay for the real thing if he can get it. Tolstoy says that "Art is that which speaks to the greatest number."

If this be true, then one may have no compunctions in calling the motion picture an art, for today it speaks to more people than any other medium of supposed artistic endeavor.

Therefore, it behooves our directors and producers not to be afraid of their audiences, not to try to think what their audiences will think, but to get as nearly as possible to those phases of life that every one will recognize—not as an isolated type or exaggerated thrill, but pure human nature. It is the most dramatic and thrilling thing on earth.

No. 3, Who?
A Henry Ford Suit.
What We Shut Out.
Some Other Toad.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

George Washington was born 196 years ago on Wednesday. Lying in his vault in Mt. Vernon, he seems close to all of us. It is difficult to realize that he died one year before the last century began.

This country has had two great statesmen, Washington and Lincoln. When will the third appear? What will he do?

Washington established the nation. Lincoln preserved it. Number three, perhaps, will improve it.

Those that once owned Lincoln Motor Company stock accuse Henry Ford of deceiving them. The public impression is that the Lincoln company was a failure. Ford took it up to save an old friend from failure. And of his own accord Henry Ford paid the debts of the bankrupt concern that he put on its feet.

Promoters of South American investments inform you that the population of Rio De Janiero has increased nearly a million in eight years. Buenos Aires more than a million in fourteen years. Agricultural population has increased enormously in South America.

All that is due to our immigration laws which keep out of the United States the white European populations that we need, the men and women that made this country what it is.

Shutting out such immigration, we build up other nations.

The corner stone of a court house is opened, and inside, alive, is found a horned toad sealed up in the stone 31 years ago. You are told 'science wonders."

That's inaccurate; foolishness wonders. Science knows that it is not the same toad.

Science also knows that when you take grains of wheat from the body of an Egyptian mummy, plant it and it grows, you are not planting the seed that was buried with the mummy. That seed would not grow.

Great Britain suppresses a moving picture, showing how Nurse Edith Cavell was shot as a spy by the Germans. Britain wisely decides that such a picture would only revive and intensify international bitterness.

Edith Cavell was guilty under military law. Allied nations executed women for crimes no more serious. But the "moral" circumstances were different. Military stupidity that governed Germany and killed Edith Cavell, govern Germany no longer.

Japan thinks nations should arbitrate, even in matters "affecting national independence, vital interests, and national honor."

Big nations will not agree to such arbitration. Japan herself would not abide by such an arrangement.

That seems natural, but it would not seem natural if a man said, "I will agree not to commit murder unless my vital interests, independence or honor are affected."

The individual is more nearly civilized than the nation.

Claude Hopkins, who has written and "placed" many billion dollars in advertising, says the daily newspaper is the best advertising medium. It is of course, because "repitition is reputation," and the newspaper alone makes daily repetition possible.

"Kellogg chats with Sweden." Our Secretary of State, over wires and through the ether, talks across the ocean with the Crown Prince of Sweden in Stockholm. And newspapers give it three lines. We digest miracles easily.

OUR HOUSE

I like to see a lovely lawn
Bediamoned with dew at dawn,
But mine is often trampled bare,
Because the youngsters gather there.

I like a spotless house and clean
Where many a touch of grace is seen,
But mine is often tossed about
By youngsters racing in and out.

I like a quiet house at night
Where I may sit to read and write,
But my peace flies before the tones
Of three brass throated saxophones.
My books to tumult are resigned.
In vain my furniture is shined.
My lawn is bare, my flowers fall.
Youth rides triumphant over all.

I love the grass, I love the rose,
And every living thing that grows.
I love the books I ponder o'er,
But oh I love the children more!

And so unto myself I say:
Be mine the house where youngsters play,
Oh little girl, oh healthy boy,
Be mine the house which you enjoy!

A LIST OF PEOPLE TO BITE

The story is told of an old Quaker gentleman who was bitten by a mad dog.

He was not in good repute with his neighbors, declined to go to church and never bothered much with thoughts of the after life.

When he was bitten by the dog he did not go to a doctor or look up a Pasteur, but went straight home and locked himself up. There he was seen by his curious neighbors to be writing furiously. A number of them gathered outside and watched him from the window. At last one of them opened the door and said to him:

"Knowing that nothing but hydrophobia lies ahead of thee, we are glad to see thee making thy will and turning thy attention to the life after death." He replied, "That ain't what I'm doin'. I am makin' out a list of the people I want to bite."

Doubtless composing this list gave him some measure of satisfaction. There is always some sort of pleasure in expressing yourself, in getting the bite disposition out of your system.

We heard once of one woman who had an enclosed back yard into which she often went so that she might scream to her heart's content. She couldn't yell in the house when the children got on her nerves, she couldn't constantly suppress a desire to make a noise, so she took it out by yelling in the back yard.

It is a good plan when you feel down and repressed and somebody has done you great wrong and you are generally out of sorts with the world, to retire into your chamber and kick the bureau. The bureau does not mind it and it helps you work off your extra steam.

A great many crimes would be prevented if people had some harmless way of relieving the pressure.

Nothing can be said in defense of profanity, but there at least is some sort of joy in a man's using strong language when nothing else seems to fill the bill. Sometimes he is in the case of the man who missed the train just by the fraction of an inch. He stood silent a moment and some one asked him why he didn't swear. His reply was that he couldn't think of words suitable enough to express the situation.

Much has been said of the necessity of controlling one's self, but something should be said once in awhile about the necessity of letting one's self go.

One advantage of the Fourth of July or our quadrennial presidential elections is that they are safety valves for the public. We can all go out and yell to our heart's content and march in parades and the exercise does us some good.

An occasional blow-out seems to be necessary for some dispositions and they ought to be shown how to blow out harmlessly.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TRY SOMETHING PRACTICAL

There are "coal questions" in which the citizens are more interested than those involved in the strike of the soft coal miners, which has been in effect so long. Senator Johnson, of California, may not know much about the coal business, but he is mightily stirred by the alleged terrible human conditions in the coal mining communities of Western Pennsylvania. There is need, however, that there appear upon the scene, someone as wise in practical coal questions as was the young student in chemistry. The young man did solve the question which bothered his father as well as most consumers of coal. Perhaps a Solomon of his order might show both miners and operators how to end their troubles.

"Young gentlemen," said the lecturer in chemistry, "coal exposed to the elements loses ten per cent of its weight and power. This is due to the action of the alkali constituents of—"

"But what if there is a dog sleeping near the coal, professor?"

"None of your levity, young man. This is a serious matter."

"That's what dad thought when 72 per cent of our coal pile disappeared during three nights of exposure. Then he asked my advice as a student in chemistry, and I told him to buy a dog. He bought a dog with large-sized teeth, and now we don't lose 1 per cent of our coal a month. That's practical chemistry."

RICH AND POOR

There is an old saying that the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer. Income tax statistics and motor car records show that this is no longer the case in America. There are still too many poor and too many quite uselessly rich, but the well-known middle-class are doing a little better than they used to. Statistics show food prices are down a little. There has been much building in the last two or three years and the housing problem is less serious. Nineteen twenty-eight ought not to scare anybody.

The Irish Free State spends 20 per cent of the taxes it collects on education. When some other countries realize that the money spent on schoolhouses and education is an investment and not a luxury, they will make a better use of their taxes. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

IN NEW YORK

This is a true story, though I do not think it would be good taste on my part to use names in it at this time. Later, doubtless, you will read the same story with names and addresses and developments that are still in the future.

A New Yorker who has been prominent in the newspaper and periodical world for 20 years has just resigned an important job as directing head of a business that is connected with newspaper production. He is less than 50 years old. He has a novel partly written. It is the regular newspaper man's novel—the one that is supposed to go to the grave with every newspaper man, unpublished.

This man doesn't intend to die until his novel has been published. But he has never had time to finish the book, and he now realizes that he never would finish it if he continued actively engaged in his regular occupation. So he is going to sacrifice pride of place and several other things in order to finish that novel.

He has not enough money to enable him to retire, without income, and write the rest of the novel. He has a wife to support.

So he has applied for a job as gardener on a rich man's country estate.

This man I write of is in Who's Who in America. He has been all kinds of important personages in the publishing world in his time. He is well educated, refined, scholarly. But he has not devoted much of his life to money-making or money-keeping. And he is going to finish that novel.

He is just about to accept a certain job, and will be placed, either in this job or in one like it, before you read this.

He has agreed to act as chauffeur, insofar as he is needed for that work, in addition to his gardening. He specifies that he is not to wear a uniform or livery. But he, who has given orders for two decades, agrees to take orders and to come when called.

Now here is what I call courage. Here is real devotion to one's life task. Here is faith in one's inspiration.

I predict that this man will be happy in his new work, will finish his novel, and that the novel will be a success. The book must be good, or a man of such sound judgment and wide experience would not be willing to go so far to complete it. And a good gardening job is just about right for a writing man.

Frenchmen Show New Devices For Submarine Safety

(International News Service)

PARIS, Feb. 23.—With civilians and experts flooding the United States navy department with suggestions to prevent a repetition of the S-4 disaster the French Academy of Sciences has given three ideas all considered feasible but only for submarines sunken in shallow depths.

One plan is to drop a steel shaft into the hull, pumping out the water so that a diver could descend and release the imprisoned crew. The second is to equip the submarine with detachable buoys which pull up telephone wire and food tubes to the surface.

The last and admittedly least practical is for the submarine to drag itself from the bottom so to speak by its own shoes or rather shoulders, the latter being a series of huge buoys connected to the submersible by heavy chains which once released from the hull would bring her to the surface. The only danger is said to be that the slightest inequity in tension in the buoys would cause them to rip the craft to pieces.

Haig Diaries Not To Be Published Before Year 1940

(International News Service)

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Not until 1940, if ever, will the late Field Marshal Earl Haig's personal account of the British operations during the world war become known to the world.

In 1921 Haig deposited his private documents relating to the war with the British Museum with the instruction that if after 20 years interest justified it they could be issued to the public.

These documents which include Haig's diary and must contain many secrets of the greatest interest are now locked away in the keeping of the Keeper of Manuscripts of the Museum.

According to present information they will be examined by the trustees of the museum in 1940.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

for luxury and leisure, culture has followed as naturally as vegetation grows in a rich and watered soil.

"To have become wealthy was the first necessity; a people, too, must live before it can philosophize . . . But soon our maturity will come; our minds will catch up with our bodies, our culture with our possessions . . . When we have learned to reverence liberty as well as wealth, we, too, shall have our renaissance."

There is nothing so fine as liberty. At present most of us want others to do things our way. We love to rule, to influence, to dominate, to reform. We have too little regard for the liberty of thought and action that we ought to accord to others. When we learn to think and let think, we shall have become more civilized.

NO DANGER

London tailors are alarmed by the invention of metalized suits that won't wear out. They needn't fear. Men are somewhat like women. They want new clothes not because the old have worn out, but because they are vain enough to desire to deck themselves in snappy clothes, thereby attracting the attention of others. That's human nature. No matter if clothes that won't wear out are invented. As fast as we can afford it we'll give the old ones away—whether they're cloth or metal.

Vanity is a continuing quality that tailors and others can count on.

William T. Tilden 2nd to protect his throat, smokes Luckies

"The voice is essential to stage work and its care one of the actor's greatest worries. During the course of some of my stage appearances, I am called upon at intervals to smoke a cigarette and naturally I have to be careful about my choice. I smoke Lucky Strikes and have yet to feel the slightest effect upon my throat. I understand that toasting frees this cigarette from any throat irritants. They're 100% with me." William T. 320 Bushels of Potatoes per Acre

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers Give Quick Growth and Excellent Yield

Quick growth, top-quality and large yield make not only a fine potato crop—they make a profitable potato crop.

Last year G. S. Rittenhouse & Son, of Smock, Fayette Co., Pa., dug 320 bushels per acre from their fields. Here is what they say in their letter of October 24, 1927:

"This is our second year for potatoes, and the excellent yield obtained we attribute to the use of 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer. We used 1600 lbs. per acre of your Gladiator Fertilizer ('AA QUALITY') and the potatoes came up quick, made quick growth, thereby filling up the rows so as to hold the moisture. We highly recommend your goods to any farmer for any crop that he wants to raise." J. S. Rittenhouse & Son have been farming for thirty years and have had splendid results year after year with "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers. They have found that "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers produce extra yields and better quality on all crops. "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers are painstakingly and scientifically made for each crop and each locality.

"AA QUALITY" goods are guaranteed by the largest fertilizer company in the world. They are backed by sixty years of fertilizer experience—and what is more, sixty years of successful crop production.

You, too, can get maximum yields of top-quality crops — and maximum profits. Use "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers this season.

MOST PROFITABLE FERTILIZER . . . Mr. W. A. Morgan, of Delhi, Norfolk Co., Ontario, Canada, says: "I first used 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer on my 1927 potato crop. Your Reliable Fertilizer ('AA QUALITY') proved more profitable than any fertilizer I have ever used before. I recommend 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizers for maximum yields and lowest production costs; they are the best fertilizers on the market."—October 24, 1927.

$350 PROFIT PER ACRE. . . Mr. Leon A. Swing, of Penn Yann, Yates Co., N. Y., says: "We have an eleven-acre apple orchard, and if you could see the difference between our orchard, fertilized with 'AA QUALITY' as against our neighbor's unfertilized orchard, you would understand why we believe 'AA QUALITY' to be the best. Our profits per acre from 'AA QUALITY' Fertilizer amount to over $350. Rest assured we shall have a word to say to the man who is in doubt about fertilizer on orchards."—September 16, 1927.

YIELD INCREASED 20% WITH "AA QUALITY" . . . Mr. E. J. Hurley, of Rushville, Yates Co., N. Y., says: "I have been buying exclusively from you for the past 25 years. I have always been well pleased with results. Many makes of other companies' same analysis are offered me annually, but Bowker Fertilizer ('AA QUALITY') is good enough. I consider by using your Bowker Fertilizer that we increase our yield at least 20%. We harvest our crops earlier and get the best market prices for same."—September 15, 1927.

Good News for Expectant Mothers

Doctor's Discovery Relieves Much Unnecessary Suffering

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering experienced during expectancy, as well as at childbirth, is entirely unnecessary.

Dr. Holmes' discovery, "Mother's Friend," aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth!

Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., writes: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used "Mother's Friend" and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Start using Mother's Friend tonight—the sooner the better and write for free booklet on "Things to Know Before Baby Comes" (sent in plain envelope). Mother's Friend is sold by all drug stores. Bradfield Regulator Co., Desk 21, Atlanta, Ga.

Lindy Lands At Detroit Air Field

Unannounced Destination Of Flier On Wednesday Proved To Be Detroit

DETROIT, Feb. 23.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh who left St. Louis in an airplane yesterday, accompanied by four friends for an unannounced destination, landed at Selfridge field near hear at 3:55 p. m. Wednesday night.

Col. Lindbergh made a landing at the far eastern end of the flying field where he was frisked away to the field headquarters in a waiting automobile.

He declined later to state the purpose of his visit here, stating that "my visit is a personal one".

"I want to drop out of public life for awhile," he said.

Seek Buried Gold In Hampshire Woods

(International News Service)

NASHUA, N. H., Feb. 23.—Times may be hard in New England generally but right here in Nash-u-ay folks are quitting work for treasure trove.

A real old fashioned treasure hunt will start as soon as the snow leaves the ground. There is a paltry sum of $61,190 extant in this city and many persons believe that it is buried in the woods nearby.

John Andrews and his son Michael and another are serving 25 year sentences at Atlanta as a result of a train robbery at Salibury two years ago. In the robbery the trio secured $64,000 of which nearly $3,000 was recovered at the time of the arrest and conviction.

Where the remainder of the money is no one is exactly sure. Many persons, though, testify that Andrews was seen in the woods near the city on several occasions prior to his arrest and that has led to the sudden desire of local citizens to dig in the mud and dirt of the New Hampshire woods.

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Several years ago the late Senator Clark, Montana copper king, had built in Long Island City a workshop in which were "prepared," according to local realtors' reports, "the marble and other costly materials, as well as furniture that went into his $6,000,000 mansion at Fifth avenue and Seventy-seventh street." In this factory for the refurbishment of objects d'art, were remodeled many of the curios gathered in all parts of the world and later set up in the terrific manse in Fifth avenue. This latter was torn down last spring, and the space it occupied is now being ornamented by a giant apartment building. And the antique factory in Long Island City has been sold to Baumgarten, who runs a flossy interior decorating business.

Now is the time for all bored Manhattanites to read the attractive listings of "Farms for Sale" in the Sunday papers, and to repair countrywards, up through New York state, or Connecticut, or New Jersey or Long Island, in search of a rare bargain. Some friends of mine last year lured by an incredibly attractive advertisement, drove about a hundred miles from town, up into Connecticut, only to be told on arrival that the particularly cheap place indicated "had just been sold". The real estate woman was ready and anxious to show them more expensive places, but they refused, and later learned that this cleverly worded ad runs regularly as a come-on for inexperienced home-seekers.

In describing the household arrangements of some acquaintances who live in a one-room apartment in Greenwich Village, my friend says: "They live there exactly as if they were in a log cabin." Which is to say they cook, eat and sleep in the small room in rather a primitive manner. People who live in roomy, comfortable houses outside New York quite rightly turn up their noses when they visit Bohemian friends in the Village. There is, without doubt, a certain joyful camaraderie prevalent among denizens of the place, but to many prosaic souls, camaraderie never makes up for a white tile bathroom and a proper kitchen and pantry.

A well-known restaurant in West Forty-third street, frequented by stage people, serves liquor in regulation glasses during the day. At night, however, anything from cocktails to champagne is served in coffee cups. The proprietor explained the custom by saying that raids always engineered after sundown.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyance which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Topic for the Week
"THE FORGIVENESS OF SIN"
Thursday
"The Nature of Forgiveness"

SCRIPTURE: Memory Verse: "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me" (Psalm 51:10.)

Read: Psalm 51:1-13.

MEDITATION: Objection is made to the doctrine of forgiveness of sins that this is a world of law and that the past cannot be erased. Every deed has its inevitable result. The Psalmist does not pray that his record shall be wiped out but that he may be freed from those wrong dispositions, ambitions, and motives that occasioned his stumbling. Repentance brings forth deeds that tend to destroy or atone for the evil that one has done. Wrong has in it seeds of its own destruction. Revulsion at one's sin frequently leads to unusual endeavor for good. Turning from evil and seeking to do right, one loses the sense of separation from God that sin brings. One feels forgiven.

PRAYER:

Most merciful Father, who knowest the depth of our hearts, we confess unto Thee that we continually fall short of the righteousness which Thou dost require in Thy children. Give us strength to overcome the disposition that leads us into sin and help us to make our penitence a repentance unto new life. Amen.

Suffers Running Sore 10 Years

Old Time Remedy Starts Healing In Five Days.

Every person suffering from old sores and ulcers should know about the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment. Thousands have used it with joyful success after treatments and other remedies have failed.

"I am not much of a writer, but will give you a good ad for Peterson's Ointment if you care to publish it. I am a woman twenty-four years of age, and have had a running sore just above my ankle for over 10 years. I tried doctors and almost every kind of a salve, but failed to heal it. A year ago I got a box of your Peterson's Ointment and in five days' time I could tell that it was healing. It took only one 35 cent box and two sixty cent boxes in all. So I advise every man, woman or child to use Peterson's Ointment, for it is worth the price and is good to keep on hand."—Mrs. Fay Korenchuk, Chicago, Ill.

That's the kind of a healing ointment Peterson's is and one 35 cent box from your druggist will prove it.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE POLICE FORCE OF THE ELM TREE.

"Why, you are a sure enough policeman!" exclaimed Peter, deeply interested, but Nuthatch contradicted him.

"Oh, no I am not a policeman" said the bird quickly. "I am too small. Patrolling is just about all that I can do but there is a policeman who is detailed to this tree and if you wait around long enough you will be sure to see him. He is on his 'beat' now and he has a lot of space to cover. Listen and maybe you will hear"—

"Tap! Tap! Tap!" A faint noise coming from somewhere above his head interrupted the little bird who cocked his head to hear the better. "Tap! Tap! Tap!"

The sound was repeated and this time quit a bit louder than before. Peter was startled. So many strange things happen in such a short while among the feathered folk that if there was trouble coming a fellow wanted to know it in time to get out of the way.

"God gracious, what can that be?" cried Peter.

Evidently the Nuthatch knew and wasn't a bit worried for that little bird made that chuckly noise in his throat.

"I was about to say that you might hear that policeman knocking long before Sergeant Woodpecker came in sight and sure enough you have. That is he making his rounds."

"What is he tapping for?' asked Peter curiously.

"Suppose you ask him boy" suggested the little Nuthatch. "There he is now."

Looking straight up toward the tree tops on the trunk above the little patrolman, Peter saw a large, important loking red-headed gentleman wearing a pepper and salt suit and the fellow was staring right down at him.

"Ask me what?" demanded the red-headed gentleman in a stern tone. "What did the stranger wish to know, Nuthatch, and who is he anyhow? He looks to me like a suspicious character."

"Oh but I'm not" protested Peter, speaking up for himself.

"Then what are you hanging around this tree. Be off about your business" the red-headed gentleman thrust a sharp beak towards Peter who stepped back hurriedly.

"WHAT ARE YOU HANGING AROUND THIS TREE FOR"?

"Now sergeant, that is no way to treat anyone just on circumstantial evidence" cried the little Nuthatch. "You are my superior officer but I feel obliged to say a word in Two-Leg's defence. He is here visiting in Birdland and the Robin Redbreasts are great friends of his and only a little while ago Chief Crow told me that he had given them a feast so you can easily see that he means no harm. I had been telling him about our force and what a very clever policeman you are. There are no borers who can get away from you. You discover them every time with your 'tap, tap, tap.'"

Grove City Legion Will Visit Sharon

State Commander Will Be Honored At Banquet March 7; Plan Party

GROVE CITY, Pa., Feb. 23.—The Grove City American Legion Bugle and Drum corps will head a large delegation of Legionaires from the local Grove City Post, No. 220, which will attend the banquet and entertainment to be held in Sharon on March 7th, in honor of State Commander Stafford, of the Legion in Pennsylvania.

The local organization, which recently boosted its membership to such heights as to rank as one of the largest in Western Pennsylvania, is also planning a special party and entertainment in place of the regular business meeting next month. The affair will be held in the Penn-Grove hotel on Monday evening, March 19th., and plans are being made to turn it into a "million dollar party". Other similar events held by the ex-service men have proved big successes and the coming event will probably be the most interesting every attempted.

Exposure—chill—muscles knotted with pain

260 Gloucester fishermen said, "This gives quickest relief.."

NO HARDIER, heartier class of men lives than the men of the fishing fleets.

Nothing daunts them—raging gales, mountainous waves, sudden and heavy strains, the freakish accidents of the sea.

How do they manage to avoid colds, rheumatism, stiffening of the muscles when they've been facing icy seas in an open boat? How do they relieve the aching of tired muscles when they've been straining over the heavy nets? What do they do for the sprains, wrenches, bruises that are bound to occur in an adventurous life like theirs?

We asked numbers of the fishermen of the famous old fishing town of Gloucester, Mass., to answer these questions.

260 said, "We use Sloan's."

One of the Gloucester fishermen. They protect themselves from strain and exposure with Sloan's

The best friend of all who face exposure and strain

It's the same story everywhere among people who have to face exposure or strain. Policemen, postmen, firemen, factory workers, farmers—they all say they rely on Sloan's Liniment to rid them of rheumatic aches, stiffness of the muscles, the pain of sprains and bruises.

Read this account of how a bad case of stiff neck was completely relieved in less than five minutes:

"I was working and got a little warm, and it turned in and rained. I got good and wet. I got a stiff neck and could not turn my head. I used Sloan's and the pain left me in less than five minutes." S. K. Smalley, 75 Union Ave., Bellevue, Pa.

Sloan's Liniment doesn't just deaden the pain. It draws new blood into the stiff muscle, the torn ligament, the rheumatic joint; and stops the pain by driving out congestion, and sweeping away germs and poisons. Get a bottle. You can never tell when it may save you hours of agony. A bottle that lasts a long time costs only 35c—at all druggists.

A doctor who takes care of thousands of workers says: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

Use Sloan's Liniment for all kinds of muscular pain. It relieves:

Rheumatism Lame Muscles
Sciatica Stiff Neck
Lumbago Colds
Neuralgia Congestions
Sprains Bruises

"What makes you think that affects them?" continued the questioner.

"I suah don't know," was the reply, "but I expect it makes him forget what he was thinkin' about."

Hunt Two Weeks For Girl's Body

Searchers Haven't Given Up Yet; New Man On Job; Herron Still In Jail

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Feb. 23.—Two weeks ago the community was shocked by the confession of William D. Herron, 41, that he had killed his sister-in-law, Viola May, 23 and had thrown her body in the Tuscarawas river near Dover the night before.

During these two weeks Herron has been in jail without a charge being placed against him and desperate efforts have been made to find the body.

Today Sheriff Abe Lair obtained the services of John L. Schunck, Bellaire, who asserts he has recovered 47 bodies from waters as full of currents, rocks and chuck holes as the Tuscarawas.

If the weather permits Schunck will start tomorrow to grapple for the body with his strange hooks which are different from any ever used in this work. Schunck claims an expert touch and declares he can tell when the hooks he employes come in contact with a body.

State Hasn't Given Up.

The state hasn't given up hope of making out a first degree murder case against Herron it was indicated today when Prosecutor James E. Patrick refused to reply to attorneys for Herron who asked if their client would be expected to remain in jail another two weeks without a charge being lodged against him.

Russell C. Bowers former prosecutor, one of Herron's attorneys declared today he did not believe the charge against his client would ever be greater than manslaughter.

While the state has not announced its plans it is understod that a first degree charge is in prospect and that the prosecution would dig in at the second degree line and not yield further.

According to the sheriff Herron said he choked the girl "too long" during a quarrel in Herron's automobile. Prosecutor Patrick has not revealed the statement Herron is supposed to have signed and would say nothing more than that "Herron admitted killing the girl."

Hasn't Changed His Mind.

Bowers believes a charge should be filed against his client pending the recovery of the body but said he had not changed his mind about trying to get Herron out of jail by habeas corpus proceedings.

Soon after Herron's arrest Bowers said he would not make any attempt to get his client's freedom while the search for the body was on. Both the state and defense agree that without the body Herron could not be charged even with assault and battery and that he would eventually have to be turned loose.

It is understood that Herron will contend that the girl died during a quarrel and that if he choked her it was without any intention of killing her.

Herron's wife and sisters have been visiting him regularly on visiting days twice a week. His attorneys then are also privileged to visit him. No other visitors are admitted. Sheriff Laird contending that Herron already is nervous and any excitement makes him worse.

Less handicapped nowadays

New ideas on personal hygiene responsible, says doctor

THE DOCTOR in a leading women's college was comparing this generation of girls with those of 25 years ago.

"We don't have nearly so many illness excuses from girls nowadays", he said. "Not even at those times when there is perfectly good reason for their feeling below par. For one thing, girls have learned how important it is to keep their systems functioning normally at all times. And at times when they are most likely to be upset and thrown off balance, they take special measures".

What doctors advise girls to use on such occasions is Nujol—a spoonful every night for several days beforehand helps to keep everything normal even under abnormal conditions. For it contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Try this treatment for the next three months, and see if it doesn't make things much easier for you. You'll wonder how you ever did without it.

Be sure you get the genuine.

Evans Orders Hooded Order To Abolish Use Of Mask

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—"The klan is dead—long live the klan!"

Such was the general interpretation placed today upon the edict of Hiram W. Evans, unmasking the wearers of the white robe, and setting up in place of the old hooded order a new organization to be known as the Knights of the Great Forest.

The practical effect of the imperial ukase is to do away with the mask and continue the old klan under the new designation. There will be three "degrees" in the Knights of the Great Forest—Klansman, Knight of Kamelia and Knight of the Great Forest.

Evans explained in a statement accompanying the imperial edict that the abolition of the mask had been in contemplation and in process of being worked out for several years. The klan, he said, had accomplished the first phase of its growth and development, and was now ready to enter the second phase. This first phase, he said, which had now been completed was to support and foster restricted immigration. The second phase is to work for the assimilation of aliens into American life.

Evans' edict states that after midnight of Feb. 22 "it shall be unlawful for any klansman to wear any mask or visor as a part of his regalia," and that "klansmen are forbidden to fraternize with or remain in klannish fidelity with any who hereafter shall thereafter wear upon his helmet a mask or visor."

All members were instructed to attend a klan konklave as soon as possible and sign up with the new order of the Great Forest.

Phone Company Is Extending Service

Placing New Cable From Walmo To Field Club; Will Be Completed April 15

The Bell Telephone company of Pennsylvania is placing a 50 pair cable on the New Wilmington road, from the end of the present line at Walmo to the New Castle Field club, announces T. J. Harper, district manager of the company.

This new cable will give a much better service to the people living in the community. It is expected that work will have been completed and the cable in use by April 15, 1928.

TOT FALLS THROUGH CAR DOOR, MOTHER ASKS "WHAT FELL"

UNIONTOWN, Feb. 23.—"What fell out," asked Mrs. Harold Smith, as she felt the draft of the rear door of her sedan open and close as she drove several kiddies to kindergarten. "Why, it was Imogene," came the startled reply as Mrs. Smith jammed on the brakes of the machine and raced back to where her four-year-old daughter lay prostrate in the street.

She was rushed to a physician's office where it was found she had escaped with a few cuts and bruises. Imogene had held on to her baby doll which was found at her side.

SAY MAN ATTEMPTED TO SELL HIDES HERE

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Feb. 23. — Charged with the theft of 55 hides from the Householder Slaughter House, February 10, Harold B. Wright, 41, Franklin township, was taken into custody by Corporal Marcus White of the state police and Constable William Garber. Officers say Wright attempted to sell hides to a New Castle dealer. Wright denies the charge and told officers he purchased the hides.

GREAT FAITH IN THE NEW KONJOLA MEDICINE SHOWN

Many Prominent New Castle People Among First At Love & Megown Drug Store; Konjola Man Here Today.

From every section of New Castle including many nearby towns, there came a vast number of people to find out about this new Konjola medical compound. It is appalling to note the great majority of modern people who are suffering from different forms of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders. Several prominent, well-known New Castle residents were among the first to purchase this medicine.

The Konjola Man has arranged to interview everyone personally, and has taken headquarters at the Love & Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where crowds are calling to purchase this medicine or ask for free samples, and literature.

"Konjola takes a different form of action on the human system than any previously known medicine," said the Konjola Man. "It is a liquid, taken immediately after meals, which works with the sufferers own food. It contains the medicinal ingredients of twenty-two natural plants. These have the best possible effect upon the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, so that your food works with Nature, restoring more healthy, normal action to these important organs. After all, it is Nature that really does the work, and Konjola brings the help that Nature requires. This is the safest, surest and best way to conquer the ailments so many people are suffering, for example:

"Sharp pains over the kidneys, a dull, achy feeling across the back, swollen limbs, frequent night rising, dizziness, spots before the eyes, liver trouble, including biliousness, sick headaches, yellowish complexion and constipation, stomach trouble with the familiar symptons of indigestion, wild heart palpitation, feeling like fire from the throat to the pit of the stomach, intense pains and a heavy feeling like a rock in the stomach, sour, acidy risings in the throat, sharp cramps, etc.

"Many other forms of misery come from a disordered stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Rheumatism and neuritis is common. Catarrh often developes, which is one of the most stubborn diseases mankind is heir to, with the ringing and roaring in the ears, clogged nostrils and general wasting away of flesh and energy. This ailment must be conquered from the system within."

The Konjola Man comes to New Castle direct from unusual successes in larger cities. His appearance in one large Indiana city brought so many restorations to health that over a thousand public statements, of indorsements were issued in praise of this Konjola, many from public officials, doctors, nurses, ministers and people in all walks of life.

The Konjola Man is at the Love & Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St. (New Castle's busiest downtown section and the easiest to get to) where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Railroad Coaches Now Equiped With Roller Bearings

(International News Service)

DENVER, Feb. 23.—Railroad officials and mechanical engineers are watching with interest experiments being made with roller bearings for railroad passenger cars according to J. M. Taussig of St. Louis president of the Wabash railroad while en route from the Pacific coast to his Missouri headquarters.

"Roller bearings will pobably be the next great improvement in railroad passenger equipment, Taussig said, "and they may eventually be used on freight cars."

The only arguments some people listen to are their own.

Girl Disappears When Man Dies

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 23.—Reuben E. Parr, 40, of Scary, died in the office of a St. Albans physician today a short time after he was taken there by a young woman who claimed she was a niece of the man. The physician, Dr. Ward Harsbarger, said the woman left immediately, saying she was going to send a telegram to Dixon, Ill., Parr's former home, to inform relatives of his death.

Telegraph company officials reported the woman failed to make an appearance and no telegram of that nature was sent to Dixon. She failed to give her name to the physician.

Dr. Harsbarger said he would sign a death certificate giving alcoholic poisoning as the cause.

Art Club Presents Pictures To School

Miss Moore Makes Presentation At Assembly Of Franklin School

Two beautiful pictures were presented by the Art club of New Castle to the Benjamin Franklin junior high school at the assembly of the school this morning, the presentation being made by Miss Edith Moore, president of the Art club.

The subjects af art that were presented to the school were "Stahlmeister" by Rembrandt and "Christ in the Temple" by Hoffman. Frames for the pictures were made by the woodwork department of the trade school, and the pictures will be hung in the library of the school.

Miss Moore says that the pictures were given in honor of Mrs. Frank Burton, the founder and first president of the Art club. Committee of the club for selecting the subjects were Mrs. Thomas Gilkey, chairman; Mrs. Rose Nothdurft and Miss Emilie Salomon, director of art in the New Castle schools.

More Charm—

no blemishes now

UNDERNEATH a clear, smooth skin, healthy tissues —full of rich, red blood—thrive.

No worry about pimples now. Instead there is a certain satisfaction that gives confidence.

All this because rich, red blood is Nature's way of building and sustaining the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause —through the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

Thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking a few bottles of S.S.S.—Nature's own tonic for restoring the appetite — building strength—and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles.

WASTE PAPER IS FIRE ALARM CAUSE

Firemen were called to the Leslie Hotel Wednesday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock by an alarm from box 25. The blaze was found to be in the waste paper chute, which extends from the first floor to the top floor of the building and into which waste paper found in various parts of the hotel are dumped. The fire was out in short order. There was no loss to the building or its contents.

'You Can't Fool Me,' Google Informs Baer

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

When you start juggling moonbeams you might as well admit that Barney Google has a logical chance to be the next President or something.

We interviewed Barney yesterday. He was at home up an alley. The illustrous candidate was attired in a celluloid smoking jacket and wore spiked house slippers.

His remarkable record of carting a canoe across the Sahara Desert proves that, in Google, we have a man who is prepared for any emergency.

Mr. Google, thanks to the sheltering profile of his cucumber nose, is the only candidate who can smoke a cigar under a showerbath.

There are some people who claim that his eyes look like suspender buttons on an overcoat .But Mr. Google remarks:

"I do not ask to be elected on my past record. I intend to reform."

"Until the ocean gets smaller I am in favor of a bigger navy."

"Why isn't there a monument to the Unknown Sailor? Because some place., sometime, somewhere, there is a girl who knows him.'

"My record for economy is as clean as a rain drop. I am the only man who ever brought up a hoss (Spark Plug) on wild oats."

"I must admit that I make bets. But I don't pay them.'

"I am the friend of the workingman on Saturday afternoons and holidays."

"I painted my new Ford purple so that it will not show bruises."

"I will reduce the national budget and demand that the League of Nations allow spooning on park benches."

"I am in the public eye, but I ain't no cinder."

We asked Mr. Google if it was true that Coolidge meant him when he looked at Barney and said "I did not choose that runt.'

Google denied it. He said:

"I don't need a Cabinet. I can make my own mistakes."

Therefore it is up to all good American voters to cast the vote which will break the tie between Barney and the sheriff.

He wants to be President and says:

"You cannot fool me by painting the poorhouse white.

New Expedition To Seek Pirate Gold Hid At Cocos Island

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—Doubloons, pieces of eight, Cocos Island, the treasure trove of the Spanish main, formed a renewed topic of conversation on the waterfront here today as Captain Einar Peterson of the fruit steamer Limon brought back the tale of another expedition bent on revealing the secret of the tropics.

Peterson bringing his ship from Port Limon, Costa Rica, said that a group of adventure-seeking treasure hunters were equipping a craft with Cocos Island, a palm fringed dot 400 miles off the Central American coast as their objective.

"Cocos, according to maritime tradition is the supposed hiding place of an immense treasure cargo taken from Lima, Peru, a couple of centuries ago on the schooner Mary Dyer, wrecked there," Captain Peterson said.

"Revolution threatened Lima. As a safe keeping measure gold from the city's treasury was cached on the schooner in the harbor for safe keeping. The crew mutinied and weighing anchor, sailed away. The strand of Cocos, according to stories of deep sea men, claimed the hull of the Mary Dyer. The fate of its crew and cargo of golden coins has become a legend, but from time to time expeditions seek to solve the mystery of the years.

SUFFERED MANY YEARS BEFORE FINDING RELIEF

Lady Says Ten Herbs Banished Indigestion After Other Medicines Failed

"I suffered with indigestion and gas on the stomach for many years," was the statement of Mrs. Anna E. Knipe, 609 North New Street, Allentown, Pa., to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street.

MRS. ANNA E. KNIPE

New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating the great natural medicine, Ten Herbs. "I tried different medicines, but Ten Herbs was the only one that gave me real relief," Mrs. Knipe continued. "Before I used your medicine, certain foods caused me great distress. I would be troubled so at night I could not sleep, and finally I became very nervous.

"My husband, who was taking Ten Herbs and getting satisfactory results, persuaded me to try your preparation. Your medicine gave me complete relief from indigestion. I can now eat anything I want without suffering afterwards. I recommend Ten Herbs to all who are suffering from conditions such as I have mentioned."

Hundreds of people in this section are needlessly suffering from disorders of the stomach. There is gas, bloating, heavy or burning feeling in stomach, loss of appetite and inability to sleep. Relief is within reach of everyone, as is shown by the many in this community who have found prompt deliverance from their suffering by using the new herbal compound, Ten Herbs.

Ten Herbs does not act on one organ alone. It also benefits and invigorates the liver and kidneys, and regulates the bowels. By cleansing the whole system, Ten Herbs eliminates the accumulations of poisonous waste matter and impurities, with the result that there are usually new feelings of health and strength over the entire body within a remarkably short time. Get a bottle today and see how you feel after taking this popular medicine awhile.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's, of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results. Free sample given.

Lindbergh's Motor Consumed Thirteen Tons Of Air Shown

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 23.—The engine that carried Col. Charles L. Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis from California to Paris breathed approximately thirteen tons of air in its final hop from America to France according to Prof. Charles F. Taylor of the Department of Aeronautical Engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Prof. Taylor has made a study of the various engines used in different planes in conjunction with many new aeronautical courses which M. I. T. has introduced.

NEW DANCE MARATHON RECORD BEING MADE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—A new world's record for Marathon dancing was being established here today as two couples, the last of a group of 29, shuffled wearily waiting for the other to drop out of the race.

The old record of 52 hours and 46 minutes was passed early this morning while four couples remained on the floor. The winner of the Marathon will receive $100 in gold, according to announcements.

Little Green Capsules Stop Rheumatic Agony

McKee's Kut Rate Store Offers 5-Day Trial On Money Back Basis

Episcopal Clergymen Questionnaire Causes Heated Controversy

Find That One Out Of Every Five Clergymen Seek Change In Volstead Act

Deny Right Of Temperance Society To Conduct Episcopalian Questionnaire

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Denial that the church temperance society "had any authority to speak for the Episcopalians of the nation" was expressed today by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, answering its statement Monday that "failure of prohibition is attested by an almost three-to-one proportion by the American clergy of the Protestant Episcopal church."

A storm of dry protest has arisen over the statement. The board of directors of the church temperance society issued it after counting answers to a questionnaire sent over the country.

"According to their own showing, the takers of this poll received replies from only a little over half of those to whom a questionnaire was sent," McBribe asserted. "Only 1301 out of 5301 ministers failed to find prohibition a success, and only 1389 thought there should be a modification of the Volstead act," he said. "Even these did not state how they wanted it modified."

"When Dr. James Empringham gave out a somewhat similar assault on prohibition in 1926, a host of bishops, clergy and leaders among the laity of the Episcopal church promptly denied that the church temperance society had any organic relation to the church."

McBride asserted he is against the "blight of beer and the woe of wine he favors modifications today, but is "sure that my sort of modifications would give no encouragement to those who want these back."

"Everybody wants some modification of the prohibition act, either to strengthen it or weaken it," he said, "so it is not surprising that the church temperance society, which never was a prohibition organization, should find that approximately one out of five Episcopal clergymen favor some sort of change in the law."

NOTED FARMER IS KILLED BY TRAIN

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Feb. 23.—Edward Bryan, 40, farmer, formerly of East Liverpool, was killed when his automobile was wrecked by an Alliance-Dillonvale passenger train at the Minor crossing of the New York Central railroad near Minerva. Bryan, who was en route home after taking his three children to school in Minerva, failed, it is believed, to notice the approaching train and drove onto the tracks directly in the path of the locomotive. His body was badly crushed.

Colds That Develop Into Pneumonia

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the gratest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Conference Of U. P. Churches Event Of Wednesday

Officials Of Churches Of City And Vicinity Discuss Congregational Budgeting

Officials and pastors of the four United Presbyterian churches of New Castle, and the churches of the vicinity including Mt. Jackson, Mahoning, Bethel and Center, were represented at the Presbyterian conference Wednesday evening in the Third U. P. church, East Washington street.

The conference opened with an elaborate chicken dinner served in the banquet hall at 6:30 by the ladies of the Y. L. B. class. Patriotic colors formed a colorful decoration for the tables. Covers were arranged for over 100, including the pastors, elders, trustees, every member canvass committee and budget committee and their wives.

Dr. W. B. Smiley of Rochester, Pa., presided. Attorney John Lockhart of this city and Dr. H. J. Rose, synodical superintendent, gave talks on the synodical action of pastors' salaries. Dr. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland church, spoke on the mission budget and Dr. A. J. Randles of the Second church on the every member canvass.

Ministers from outside the city were Rev. George Neill of the Bethel church, Rev. Robert Hamill of Mt. Jackson, Rev. Montgomery of the Mahoning church and Rev. George Krupp of Center church.

Three Women And Man Seriously Injured In Accident Near Scranton

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—Three women and a man were possibly fatally injured today when the automobile in which they were enroute from Wilkes-Barre to Scranton was struck by a Lehigh Valley train at Dupont, near here. The injured, all of whom suffered fractured skulls, were Mary Cunningham, 33, her cousin, Hannah Cunningham, 18, Mrs. Beatrice McVey, 38, Albert Gillett, 31, the driver, all of Scranton.

As the automobile reached a grade crossing in Dupont the freight train sped around a curve and crashed into it. Carrying the machine along the tracks a considerable distance. The injured were taken to Pittston hospital.

TWO ARE INJURED WHEN AUTO SKIDS

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 23.—In attempting to pass a truck on the Plumville home highway yesterday, a car driven by Frank Davis of this city turned over three times, seriously injuring Mrs. Davis about the back and shoulders and bruising Mr. Davis.

Just as he went to pass the truck the driver turned to see who was horning him, inadvertently pulling his truck to the center of the road, forcing Mr. Davis off the road. The car skidded when he pulled onto the highway and turned over.

PASTOR CELEBRATES 87TH BIRTHDAY

BUTLER, Pa., Feb. 23.—Dr. Emanuel Cronenwett, for 65 years a minister of the Lutheran church of the Ohio synod, observed his eighty-seventh birthday yesterday at his home in North Washington street. For 53 years he was pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran church of Butler, and for about eight years has been pastor emeritus. He has written and published more than 240 hymns during his active life, and for years has been a contributor to church publications.

Dr. Cronenwett is the oldest alumnus of Capital University at Columbus, O. He is in good health for his age, and takes pride in the fact that he has never needed the services of a dentist.

POSTAL EMPLOYES FAVOR OPTIONAL RETIREMENT PLAN

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., Feb. 23.—Support of the Dale-Lehlbach bill for optional retirement of postal employes after 30 years service with annuity of $1,200 was contained in a resolution sent today to President Coolidge and the House and Senate Civil Service Committees.

The resolution was adopted at a meeting her last night of 200 postal employes of the Northwestern District. The present retirement law allowing $1,000 a year has failed to eliminate incompetency, it is set forth.

Old Man Stork Surely Had One Hectic Time!

CHICAGO'S first triplets of 1928 were delivered to Mrs. William Gavin, shown in top photo with the trio (left to right), Walter Henry, John Anthony and Mary. The gentlemen waited to let Mary enter and take a peek at the world first. The stork also filled two rush orders in New York by delivering babies to two sisters within an hour of each other. Lower left is seen Mrs. Tessie Feuer with her seven-pound boy. Lower right is her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Bronheim, with her nine-pound girl. Old Man Stork was entitled to a day off after rushing around like that!

Vets Continue Fight Against Professor Hull

Veterans Of Foreign Wars Continue To Oust College Professor

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23. — The veterans of Foreign Wars will continue their fight to oust Dr. William I. Hull, professor of history at Swarthmore College an opponent of the naval appropriations bills, despite the support of college officials and the student body.

This was revealed today after Harper M. Tobin, junior vice commander of the veterans launched an endorsement of Congressman Updike's attack on Dr. Hull.

Tobin announced he will present Dr. Hull's views to the congressional naval committee in support of the request for his removal.

The controversy between Dr. Hull and the Indiana congressman will end in a debate on the matter. Both men have signified their willingness to meet but no date has been set for the verbal battle.

Annual Conference Will Start Friday

College Y. M. C. A's. Send 150 Men To New Castle For Event

With almost 150 persons as delegates or leaders, the annual conference of the college Y. M. C. A.'s of Western Pennsylvania will get under way Friday afternoon at four o'clock, when Andrew Roy of the National Student division will address the delegates on "High Spots in a Student Volunteer convention", according to R. L. Meermans, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and general chairman of the conference's local committee.

Religious leaders from every college which is participating in the conference will be in attendance, and it is expected that Mack A. Mahey, evangelistic singer of Clarion, Pa., will serve as song leader and will render solos throughout the conference.

One of the features of the conference will be a trip to the points of interest in New Castle, which will be taken by the students Saturday afternoon, February 25. A. W. Chilton, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will be in charge of the trip.

The conference, which will last from Friday until Sunday afternoon, will be one of the best ever held in this section of the country, says Mr. Meermans, and he is especially pleased at the way that citizens of New Castle have responded to the plea for homes in which to entertain the delegates. While most of the students and leaders have been accommodated, there are yet a few who have not been fortunate enough to get rooms. Mr. Meermans wishes those Christian people of New Castle who feel that they could entertain one or two boys or leaders over the week end please to get in touch with the Y. M. C. A. secretary at once.

INVESTIGATION MADE.

It was stated today by the police that the investigation in regard to the alleged holdup of Ralph Rodgers of Newark, N. J., a few nights ago, when he claimed to have been rolled in the rear of the A. & P. store on East Washington street by a negro and relieved of $15.75, had been completed and without clearing up the situation.

Little Hope For Agreement On S-4 Inquiry Finding

Launch New Attempt To Break Existing Deadlock On Inquiry Report

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—A new attempt to break a deadlock between the Senate and House over the proposed investigation of the sinking of the submarine S-4, with a loss of 40 lives, was launched today, with congressional leaders holding out little hope of agreement.

Representative Snell (R) of New York chairman of the House conference committee notified Senator Hale (R) of Maine that the House conferees were ready to make another effort to reach a resolution.

[illegible] of the naval board of inquiry apparently has stiffened the attitude of the House committee. The House resolution provided for a presidential commission to investigate the sinking while the Senate provided in addition a congressional committee probe.

Regardless of the report of the conference committee, a fight was presaged in both houses.

"The report of the naval board of inquiry in placing the blame both on the submarine commander and the commander of the destroyer Paulding, which struck the submarine in Provincetown harbor, is very complete," said Snell.

Service Station Reported Robbed

Park Service Station East Of City Is Entered By Thieves During Night

Park Service Station, operated by Wadding and Foley, East Washington street extension, just beyond the entrance to Cascade Park, was entered during the night and a considerable quantity of candy, cigarets and chewing gum taken.

Entrance was effected by breaking the glass about the lock of a front window of the place, unlocking the window and entering the place.

The first intimation any of the authorities had of the case was when the police were notified at 5:55 a. m. this morning by Mr. Wadding that the robbery had taken place.

Officers Lockard, Richards and Samuels answered the call. They found Love, the milkman and a helper at the front door. They had noticed a young man coming to the rear door of the place. On seeing Love and his helper this man ran away.

After an investigation by the police answering the call, County Detective William Fleming was called in because of he fact that it was outside the city and also Constable A. S. Leslie. City Detective John Young and Officer U. G. Harper assisted the county detective in the investigation.

Bar Association To Have Banquet

Visiting Lawyers And Judges Will Be Present At Annual Affair

Blue points have arrived and all is in readiness for the annual banquet of the Lawrence County Bar Association, at which judges, ex-judges, lawyers, visiting lawyers, visiting judges, law students and dignitaries will be in attendance, according to Attorney Alvah Shumaker, who has charge of the arrangements.

The affair, which is scheduled for seven o'clock this evening at The Castleton, promises to be one of the best which has been held in several years. After the banquet, dignity will be laid aside, and lawyers and judges will be grilled on the grid iron, having their peculiarities displayed to the best advantage. It is also rumored that the great American institution, the press, will come in for more than its full share of the satire.

Hundreds View Horned Frog In Eastland, Texas

Horned Frog, Nicknamed "Rip" Still Refuses To Take Nourishment

(International News Service)

EASTLAND, Tex., Feb. 23.—"Blinky," the famous horned toad which outstripped Rip Van Winkle by 11 years, drowsily groped about in his abode here Wednesday, seemingly not caring if he ever breaks his fast.

The 31-year incarceration in a building corner stone without food and drink and the proclamation to the world that Texas horned frogs live to be 100 even without air has stirred up a controversy in which scientists are reported to have scoffed the idea that such a "miracle" could occur.

But "Blinky" is not without affiants who further sayeth not. All roads led to the Eastland county courthouse here today and there are many who declare they will make affidavit the reptile actually was entombed alive these 31 years. A barber, a couple of ministers of the gospel and judges and capitalists are among those who "know".

While the controversy went merrily on hundreds dropped into town today, augmenting the crowds which already have seen the modern "Rip".

"Blinky" as yet has shown no inclination to eat. Examinations have been made and he is reported "in fine shape", however.

Dancing Sixty Hours Two Couples Continue To Shuffle Feet For First Prize

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23. — Barely shuffling their feet, two couples, the last of 29, continued to make the rounds of the dance floor here at noon today, sixty hours after starting on a marathon dancing contest.

The couples had established a new endurance record at 4:30 this morning when they passed the old mark of 52 hours and 46 minutes—but one couple must be declared winner—and they danced on.

They were tired and looked tired. Their pedal movement barely escaped detection, but they were moving and that was the only requirement.

Declare Campbell Auto Speed King At Daytona Beach

Frank Lockhart Only American Entry In Speed Classic Is Slightly Injured

(International News Service)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 23.—Captain Malcolm Campbell, of Great Britain, will officially hold the world's speed record as a result of his 206.95 miles per hour flash across the Daytona-Ormond Beach course last Sunday.

Frank Lockhart, only American contender who was qualified in the race, was lying in a hospital suffering from shock, bruises and abdominal cuts as a result of a wild plunge into the Atlantic at 240 miles per hour yesterday.

Lockhart today said that he will repair his machine, from which he had to be cut out with blow torches by mechanics. Under his agreement with Captain Campbell, he will not try to break the record again for at least thirty days, making Campbell the official record holder.

J. A. White's Triplex will probably be taken out on the course today in an effort to establish an unofficial record if the weather clears. The Triplex machine of White, claimed by its driver to be capable of 375 miles per hour, was yesterday again ruled ineligible because of the lack of proper clearing.

Senator Watson Now Candidate For Presidency

Petition Of Senator James E. Watson Filed In Indianapolis Today

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 23.—United States Senator James E. Watson, Republican, of Indiana, today entered his name as a candidacy for the Presidency of the United States in the Indiana Presidential preference primary to be held on May 8.

The senator's name was formally filed by James House, an assistant attorney general of Indiana, who brought to the office of Secretary of State Frederick E. Schortemeier petitions with approximately 15,000 signatures, representing each of the 92 Indiana counties.

Coast Aviators Seek Record In Third Attempt

(International News Service)

IMPERIAL, Cal., Feb. 23.—The giant monoplane "Albatross" took off at 7:13 a. m. today on its third attempt to break the world's endurance record of 52 hours, 22 minutes and 31 seconds.

Undaunted by two previous failures, Charles F. Rocheville, Alva K. Peterson and Jack Reed, pilots of the plane, were confident the attempt would end successfully.

With neither sister knowing that the other was to be married the Misses Grace and Lucille Neil of Marinette, Wis., were married in their home town on the same evening.

Women's desire for slimness is said to have resulted in a perceptible decrease in the manufacture of candy.

Local People At Booster Banquet In Beaver Falls

Get-Together Meeting To Arrange For Conference At Rose Point Next Summer

Reformed Presbyterian churches of New Castle and Rose Point were well represented at the Rose Point Conference booster banquet Wednesday evening, which took place in the General Broadhead Hotel at Beaver Falls.

The gathering was for the purpose of a mid-year get-together and to create a greater interest in the Rose Point Conference, which is held annually.

Places were arranged for 314. Prof. Slater of Wilkinsburg presided and C. Bernard Matheny was toastmaster. Inspiring talks were given by Dr. Milligan M .Pierce, president of Geneva College, and by Dr. John Coleman, instructor of Bible in the college. Readings by Miss Dorothy Riley of this city and Miss Mary Wallace of Beaver Falls were given. A trio from Geneva College furnished the music of the evening.

Those present from New Castle were Dr. E. A. Crooks and son John, Merle, Dorothy, John and Oscar Riley, Mrs. Lester Maxwell, Mary Etta Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Pattison and son Kirk, Kenneth Gaston, Harry Wilson, Donald Williams and Edith Pattison.

Those from Rose Point were Rev. and Mrs. Paul D. McCracken, Miss Boggs, T. H. McIlwain, Marguerite McIlwain, Mr. and Mrs. Balph McIlwain, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Wilson and Miss Munnell.

It was decided to hold the conference at Rose Point beginning August 24 and closing September 3, Labor Day. Prof. Boyd Tweed of Geneva College will be the Bible instructor and Rev. D. Bruce Martin of Morning Sun, Ia., will teach music and be the camp father.

Hotel Patrons Of Present Are Better Behaved And For Most Part Honest

—MANAGER SLACK

What a hotel man knows about human nature, is often branded "not for publication". But one of the hotel men of New Castle tells one, and offers proof, that his guests today are more honest than were guests ten and twelve years ago, and when he tells one that losses of towels, bed linen, napkins, and other portable equipment is steadily decreasing, then even the most cynical can park up, take a big breath, and get a new aspect of the human animal.

For that is what is happening, according to John L. Slack, manager of The Castleton. Many conventions, accommodated in hotel, usually result in breakage of some furniture. Yet, since it has been opened, The Castleton has handled several large conventions, and so far, not one chair has been broken. And even if the furniture is broken, it is due, says Mr. Slack, not to maliciousness, but to an over-crowded condition. During a convention, guests are constantly wandering from one room to another, looking for their friends, and when a dozen or more are crowded in one room, chairs are sometimes overloaded and broken.

"It was with the sudden growth of the popularity of summer touring that has taken away the strangeness and awe with which most people entered a hotel some years ago," continued Mr. Slack. "Up to a short time ago, it was an advent in the life of the average person to spend a night in a hotel, and in the majority of cases, the person felt that he should have some souvenir of the occasion. In most cases, this took the form of a napkin, towel, or pillow case.

"But as motor touring increased, people began to take blankets, and once"—Mr. Slack grinned furtively—"when I was at another house, a guest actually got out with a mattress. How he did it still remains a mystery to the entire staff of that hotel. But, blanket losses have been reduced to a minimum.

"Another point that I have noticed since I came to The Castleton is that during the short time that we have been open, towels, napkins, and other articles have been returned to the hotel through the parcel post. Many times, a person, while traveling desires clean linen, and takes it when they leave a hotel. Women sometimes take pillow slips and other things of this sort. But it is surprising the number of these things that have been returned to us even during the past month.

"One of the newest ways of operating that old game: to beat the hotel out of the room rent, was pulled, and successfully, the other day. A man bought a cheap suit case, filled it with ice, and then came to The Castleton, where he registered and stayed with us for four days. After he checked in, he put the ice in the bath tub, and when he was ready to leave, well, he just left the suit case, which did not cost him over three dollars at most, and walked out. How did we know that he wasn't coming back? Well, we didn't. I have the suit case now, to remind me of the cleverest gyp scheme that has been pulled for a long time.

"Although not a month ago, we had a party of some 65 guests here, and when the dinner was over, 45 demitasse spoons were missing; yet I believe that the silverware loss at "The Castleton is lower than in any hotel in the chain. Hotel guests are more honest as they are beginning to realize the obligations which are imposed on them as guests. The management now is getting more than a fair break, although "souvenir hunters" always will cause some loss."

Reveal Blackmer Received $750,000 In Liberty Bonds

Personal Attorney For Henry Blackmer Reveals Bond Holding

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Henry W. Blackmer, former head of the Midwest Refining Company, who fled to Europe to escape the oil trials, received $750,000 of the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,080,000 Liberty Bond "slush fund", Karl C. Schuyler of Denver, his personal attorney, told the senate public lands committee oday.

The bonds have been held for two years in the vaults of the Equity Trust Company of New York in the name of a joint account held by George E. Holmes, George Gordon Battle and Schuyler, the witness said. This method of keeping the bonds, Schuyler said, was decided on as a means of proving that Blackmer was not profiting from his share of the Continental bonds.

High School Pupils Are Dismissed After Mayor's Reprimand

BUTLER, Pa., Feb 23.—The 40 pupils of the Butler Senior High school who were summoned to appear in municipal court late yesterday afternoon to explain their actions of Monday afternoon when they "crashed the gate" at two local theaters and created a disturbance promised Mayor George Bob Wick and Probation Officer Hunter E. Coulter that they would not cause a similar disturbance in the future if they were dismissed on this occasion.

Mayor Wick explained to the students that he was acting in the capacity of a mediator in order that the students could fully understand the seriousness of the situation. The entire affair was turned over to the mayor at his request so that an understanding could be reached between the students and the authorities.

Probation Officer Coulter told the students that they could easily be sent to a penal institution for their actions and explained the workings of Morganza and Huntingdon Reformatory.

LITTLE COAL WILL BE NEEDED FOR GARBAGE PLANT

When the second furnace is installed at the Municipal Garbage plant it is anticipated that it will result in little coal being required for fuel, according to Howard Phillips, superintendent of the collection of garbage.

Recently one new furnace was installed by the Hiler Engineering company and it now is being used while the contracting company's employes are installing the second furnace. Phillips reports there already has been a saving in coal as a ballast system creates its own fuel.

Last year approximately 900 tons of coal were required to furnish fuel to burn the garbage.

ONE CONTAGIOUS CASE.

Leonard Fee, of 802 Blaine street is confined to his residence today on account of mumps according to a physician's report to the city health department.

TWO FIRE CALLS BLAZE IS SMALL

Two alarms of fire were necessary last night to locate and put out the fire that developed in some rubbish at the Genkinger property, Lawrence street and Norris Way.

It was reported about midnight last night to the police that there was a fire in the rear of the P. & O. building. It was assumed that it was on Sycamore Way in the rear of the P. & O. office and box 25 was sounded. After searching the district thoroughly, the firemen started for the central fire station.

In the meantime, Assistant Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman in hunting about located the fire in the old distillery property, which is being torn down and which is near the P. & O. car barns. A second alarm was turned in from box 15.

There was no actual fire loss. It developed after the fire had been located, that the man who is tearing down the building had secured permission from the chief of the fire department to build a fire to keep his hands warm while he worked.

He evidently left the fire burning when he quit work and it was this fire that caused the small blaze in some old lumber and rubbish.

Coke Production Shows Increase

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 23.—Coke production jumped upward again last week, reports compiled here today showed. A gain of 4,930 tons was registered, bringing the weekly total to $58,630 tons, which is near the rate of last September. Of this gain the furnace group, principally the H. C. Frick Coke company, contributed 3,400 tons and the merchant operators 1,530 tons.

Oven additions numbering 114 were all at merchant plants.

The firing of 375 additional ovens Tuesday and Wednesday of this week by the H. C. Frick Coke company will be noticeable in the ensuing week's tonnage. This interest will have fired slightly over a thousand ovens within a fortnight.

TELL-TALE ARTERIES

Are your arteries showing a tendency towards becoming hard? Do you have any difficulty in breathing, heart palpitation or dizzy spells? Look out for high blood pressure! It's a dangerous condition that may cut life short.

Living at the pace we do today we put too great a strain upon our vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becoming "limp" or sluggish, fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. Then a toxic condition of the whole system, with heart and blood vessels affected.

The liver occasionally needs a little help and there's nothing better for this, as doctors agree, than ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few make a wonderful difference.

Believe Morin To Oppose Reed In Senate Fight

Mellon-Reed Forces Reject Ultimatum Issued By Vare In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 23. — Congressman John M. Morin, of Pittsburgh, with the support of U. S. Senator-elect William S. Vare, will oppose Senator David A. Reed at the coming primaries.

This was strongly indicated today when it became known that the Mellon-Reed forces have rejected the ultimatum of Vare that Morin be supported for re-election in the Pittsburg district. Alderman P. J. Sullivan, who has the backing of the Mellon-Reed forces for the Congressional district now represented by Morin has announced that he is in the fight to a finish.

Open warfare was declared when spokesman for Governor Fisher and W. L. Mellon, chairman of the Republican State Committee, declared that any effort by Vare to influence candidacies in Pittsburgh, would be vigorously opposed.

Situation Tense

Political developments have followed each other rapidly within the last 24 hours, and the situation today is tense.

Former Governor Gifford Pinchot has declared he will not be a senatorial candidate, and if he remains out the prospective battle between Reed and Morin will be along clear-cut lines. Reed withdrew as a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican National Convention to permit the selection of James J. Davis of Pittsburgh, Secretary of Labor.

Prior to the position taken by the Mellon-Reed forces on Vare's request for Morin, Vare had suggested either W. W. Atterbury, Pennsylvania railroad head, or Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Norristown publisher, as candidate for delegate. Whether one of these two will now be slated is problematical.

For 9 Years Gas Ruined Her Sleep

"I had stomach trouble 9 years, and gas made me restless and nervous. Adlerika helped me so I can eat and sleep good."—Mrs. E. Touchstone.

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, saline, etc., (known as Adlerika), has a most surprising DOUBLE action. First, it acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that often poisoned the system for months. Second, Adlerika clears all GAS and sourness from stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adlerika removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

Dr. H. L. Shoub, New York, writes: "Adlerika, in addition to its intestinal cleansing, checks the growth of intestinal bacteria and bacilli."

Dr. J. Weaver: "In my 50 years' practice, I have found nothing to excel Adlerika."

J. E. Puckett: "After using Adlerika, I feel better than for 20 years. Awful impurities were eliminated."

It will astonish you the great amounts of poisonous matter Adlerika brings out—matter you would never believe was in your system. In chronic constipation, gas bloating, sour stomach and sick headache, just ONE spoonful Adlerika brings wonderful relief. At leading druggists.

Confidence Game Foiled By Police

Latest Kink In Confidence Game Is Selling Share In Stage Play

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23.—The latest kink in confidence games was unraveled today by Pittsburgh police following the arrest of Mrs. Belle Davis and Jack Harley.

Mrs. Davis, self-asserted authoress and playwright, advertised to sell a half-interest in her alleged play, "The Radio Girl." Charles Cameron, the victim, told the police he paid $350 for the half-interest after which Mrs. Davis conveniently disappeared from Cameron's sight and knowledge.

City detectives answered a similar advertisement and staged an arrest. Harley, was charged with collaborating with the "authoress."

"Just a Step Ahead"

SHORT ROMANCES OF EVERYDAY LIFE

The Golden Age of Intuition

By Hazel Courtney

IN the November twilight John and I sat enjoying our new home. John was a building contractor and I was an ex-school teacher who was finding housework a rather tedious ordeal. However, John indulgently tolerated my losing my consciousness in the depths of a philosopher. Tonight, as usual, when John reached for his newspaper, I took up a book.

"Now, what's the all-absorbing subject?" John asked playfully.

"Intuition," I replied.

"That's beyond me; guessing at things right, ain't it, jumping at conclusions?"

I laughed. John had an apt way of driving his nails straight.

"Intuition is an exalted form of instinct."

Just then Rose Burnham entered. Her faded, straw-colored hair bristled out under her black felt hat, all around her ruddy but kindly old face.

"I'm sorry to disturb you two lovebirds," she apologized, "only I took a queer notion tonight."

"What's the proposition, Rose?" John asked.

"Though its unusual, Laddie ran off today, after I had sold $30 worth of ducks and chickens. I'm afraid to keep the money overnight. Would you put it and Nan's jewelry, in your safe, John?"

"You are sure you didn't steal the money?" teased John.

"I don't know as I ever stole anything," Rose said flushing.

I looked at Rose pityingly. She was so plain that no man in Drydenville had ever wanted to make love to her. In discussing personality with John I maintained that Rose was an angel in disguise, while Nan, her pretty sister, had been evil. Nan had succumbed to alcohol poisoning.

I carried the things to the safe. When I returned John and Rose were discussing 13-year-old Jimmie Crocker, who lived in a lodge with his parents, newcomers to Drydenville.

"Why ain't that boy goin' to school?" John asked.

"Every day he tells me he's goin' tomorrow, but he plays around my duck pool."

"I'm special police," John said. "I'll investigate."

"He acts queer," Rose volunteered, rising to go.

"Walk home with her, John," I suggested.

John inwardly objected, but he went.

"Rose is heart-broken over Nan," John commented when he came in and locked the door.

"I don't believe Rose is alarmed for nothing," I interposed. "It may be intuition, John."

John did not protest.

The next day when I telephoned to Rose and got no reply, I supposed she was tending chickens until John came hurrying in.

"Alice, Alice!" he called. "Rose has been drugged and her house robbed."

"Where's Rose, John?"

"She's home; you'd better go over there."

"What did the burglars get?"

"Oh, the old silver tea set, the Dutch clock and other things."

While I stood by, shocked, John got my coat.

"The Chief's here," he continued, but there are no clews, not even finger prints. Jones, the poultry dealer is blameless. I'd like to hound out the brute who did it."

That evening, as if grasping at the last etheral straw, John perused my social science books until Rose came in.

"This afternoon I had a queer experience," she explained. "I'd been drowsy all day, lying on the couch. About 3 o'clock I looked up and there stood Jimmy. I don't think I was dreaming. Do you s'pose that bold cherub actually came in?"

John looked at me, puzzled, and I answered:

"Rose, you were drugged; but it seems to me plain enough that your experience was a constructive dream based on a reality."

"Alice, how do you s'pose we are goin' to comprehend that lingo?" protested John. "Rose," he cross-questioned, "now ain't it possible that that Jim saw you sell your fowl?"

"He might have been around," admitted Rose, "but I didn't see him."

John became silent. When Rose went home, John escorted her. He was gone two hours.

"I'm suspicious of that Crocker family" he explained when he came in. "I'm setting a trap to catch 'em."

"A steel trap?" I jested.

"Yes a steel trap. I can bait it with counterfeit money. The chief's got some that looks genuine."

To carry out John's plan, Rose sold more chickens. She brought over the money.

"This morning I watched for Jimmy," she confided, "and when I saw him I telephoned to Jones to come right over. Meanwhile Jimmy found the hole John dug last night under the apple tree. Jones came and bought the chickens, and when he'd gone I took the pocketbook John had fixed up and buried it in John's hole under the tree. I looked all around on purpose, but I couldn't see anybody. When I went into the house I actually saw Jimmy creep along the fence to the woods, and then he ran like a deer toward home."

"It's difficult trapping a fox," was John's laconic comment.

Nevertheless, the next morning the trap was left open and the bait was gone. Human foxes are more greedy than cautious.

With a search warrant John and Officer Murray went to the lodge. Mrs. Crocker denounced the officers, calling on all the good powers in the universe to witness her innocence. Nothing was found in the lower rooms, and the loft ladder was missing. But the lack of a ladder did not deter the carpenter-officer. In the loft was a bed. Convinced that the lodge was a robber's den, John cut the mattress open. There, inside, he found the stolen counterfeit money.

Then, with a hammer John sounded the floor boards and the partitions. The woman began to moan maniacally. In the chimney corner the master builder discovered a secret closet. Forcing the lock, the officer found, on a pile of plunder, Rose's silver tea-set and her pretty Dutch clock.

Officer John came home triumphant. "It was a chance, but I drove the nails straight," he said laconically.

Putting my arms around my big policeman's neck, I felt free to philosophize:

"We are passing into the golden age of intuition, John."

"Be careful with that picture—it's not dry."

Porter—"That's all right, sir. I've got my old coat on."

"That was rough on Davis."

"What?"

"He stepped on a piece of orange peel, fell, and was arrested for giving a street performance without a license."

Wee Little Boys

By Claire Wesson

LEONA BRENT leaned back wearily against the cushions of the street car. She had really been too tired to enjoy the evening's visit with her aunt. She was always too tired now to enjoy anything. As the car jogged along she studdied the faces of the people near her.

"The women's lips are pressed tightly together," she thought idly. "Maybe they have children, too. Well, if they are as full of mischief as Berton and John, I don't wonder their mothers look cross and strained." She sighed dispiritedly as she thought of the next day with its multitude of duties.

"I get up early and dress the children, watch them at breakfast to prevent their cereal going down their necks or into someone's eyes, pick them out of the flour barrel, and the coal hod, settle their constant quarrels, and rescue the cat from their clutches. And the next day is the same, and the next after that! All day I goose step through the house trying to avoid stepping on the children or their toys, in the evening I rest by trying to mend the things they have torn or injured from clothes to cats!"

She smiled involuntarily as she remembered the cat's outraged demeanor when she had rescued him from among the boats in the bathtub. The boys had explained that he was a whale. Both boys, the cat, the bathroom and herself needed repairing after the experience.

"What's the use of it all?" she wondered wearily. "I'll just wear myself out, and become a drudge instead of a wife to David, and then the boys will grow up and forget us both."

She came out of her absorption to notice that the car had stopped. A man was talking earnestly to the conductor, pointing to the door.

The young conductor's face grew red and startled. He rubbed his forehead and looked dazedly out into the darkness. Then he went slowly down the aisle of the car and stopped in front of some uniformed men.

"Ben," said he to one of the men, then choked and stopped. The passengers waited tensely, wondering what was going to happen.

"Ben," the young conductor started again, "will you take the car for me? My baby is dying."

The passengers looked up in quick sympathy. The conductor, still with that curious red flush on his face, swung off the car and walked into the shadows of the night.

"How terrible! His baby is dying! The poor mother!" whispered the passengers to one another.

"That's what I get for traveling in uniform," grumbled the extra conductor, but he smiled at the pretty girl opposite him, and rang the bell for the car to proceed.

The pretty girl smiled back, the car started, and the tragic moment passed.

Leona felt turned to stone. The wheels of the car re-echoed. "Baby, little baby, is dying." Like a black wave the sorrows of the world seemed to roll in on her. There were so many things that might happen to little children! She remembered the night Berton had roused them with his croupy gasp.

"I wonder if Berton is well covered, she worried. He was such a vigorous little 2-year-old, and so proud of his strength. John had bumped his head in trying to make the cat turn into a whale. She hoped it would not irritate that old cut and bring on blood poisoning.

"How slowly this car goes," she thought impatiently. "It seems as if I never shall get home. I'm glad I stopped to get some warm flannels for Berton and a new blouse for John. Won't their eyes sparkle tomorrow when they find the picture books wrapped inside the new clothes!"

Imagine she could hear John's delighted roar and Berton's chuckle.

"Poor things!" she thought as she glanced at the women near her. "Probably they look so grim and sad because they haven't any children!"

"At last my street!" as the conductor called a name. She gathered up her bundles and stepped quickly out of the car.

"How dark it seems! I'll be glad to get home where there is warmth and brightness. To morrow I'll make cooky animals for the boys. How fast they grow! I could never be happy without little children around me!"

The Queen Is High

By Joella Johnson

THE Queen of Rubidia was not quite satisfied with her American tour. She had beheld America's scenery, its millionaires and mayors. She had been surrounded by a clamorous and wildering prosperity. But she had somehow missed the American people. They had stared curiously at her from crowds. Nowhere had she met them intimately and individually.

So it was that the royal lady escaped one October day to see for herself. Most dangerous. A queen, alone, in a strange land. Henri was her only accomplice. He was to keep her whereabouts secret, and to assure anxious attendants of her return by night-fall.

Early morning found her behind the wheel of a conspicuous yellow roadster, the gift of an eastern automobile company, leaving a New England city. She was a good driver, but never before in her royal life had she driven alone. If she had understood the phrase, she would have said she was getting a "kick" out of it. And she did not know where she was going. More "kick."

She was well in the country now. How curving were these New England roads. Delightful just to follow the nose of her car. Bright Autumn leaves scattered before the purring yellow monster. Pine woods cast fragrant shadow. Here a leafy trail ran off the road. Her Majesty stopped the car suddenly. She would leave the car and follow that path. She scuffed through drifts of fallen leaves; she drew in the spicy air; she surprised a harvesting squirrel, and laughed to hear him scold. An hour passed, and then the jeweled watch on her wrist warned her. There was only this day. She sighed, and returned to the highway.

No yellow car awaited her. Had she taken a wrong turn? But no; here was a woodpile she remembered. And here were tracks of her car—yes—and here, other tracks—and footprints in the soft dirt of the roadside. It was some time before she reached the frightened conclusion that her car had been stolen. It had not occurred to her to lock it. Well, she would have to find a house and telephone Henri. Her adventure was over.

No house appeared for what seemed a long time. Her feet grew tired, and the royal stomach experienced emptiness. Then she heard the plodding of hoofs on the macadam, and a horse and wagon appeared, driven by a slouching, shirt-sleeved figure, a pipe sagging from a corner of his mouth. She raised a hand. The horse stopped. The driver removed his pipe, but not his hat, and spoke:

"Goin' far?"

"My good man," began the queen, "my car has been stolen, and I wish to find a telephone. Can you help me?"

Dan Weatherbee hitched over on the seat. "Git right in. There's a telephone at my house, 'bout a mile up."

Her Majesty waited for him to alight and help her, but he sat still. Finally she put a foot on the high step, and climbed in.

"Gid dap," said her benefactor.

The Queen of Rubidia began to enoy herself.

"How'd happen your auto got stole?"

She told him.

"That so?" Laconically. "Lotta cars been stole 'round here lately. They ain't stole mine yet, though." He slapped the chunky horse with a rein, and grinned. "Have they, Dolly?"

Half an hour later the Queen was eating a simple meal in the shabily comfortable farmhouse of the Weatherbees. Henri had been guardedly telephoned to; he was on his way to her. Nothing to do but to make the most of this visit with what she assumed to be the "American People." She gave herself the name of Mrs. John Merton (belonging to a Western mayor and made friends with sunny, round-faced Mrs. Wetherbee. She could not know that she had stumbled on a type of American that is fast disappearing; Americans with the blood of early settlers flowing a little thinly in their veins; possessed of homely virtues and homely faults; kindly, shrewd weighing all things; the men-folk sparse of speech.

"The Ladies' Aid meets here today," announced Mrs. Wetherbee. "We're sewin' for the Rubidian orphans. Do you sew?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Merton.

"Then p'haps you'd like to help. It's all plain sewin'."

So the Queen sat with the Ladies' Aid and sewed for the orphans of her own country. She was aware of their interest; curiosity, perhaps. They would discuss her shrewdly when she had gone. The talk buzzed. Mrs. Parsons, a pudgy person, who sewed with nervous, jabbing movements, and Mrs. Smith, tall, solemn, who sewed in graceful sweeps, argued about the new schoolhouse. Methods of conduct in scandal moved slyly through the conversation. Then the talk swerved to outside topics. The hurricane in Florida. The murder in Norcross. The Queen of Rubidia's American visit.

"They say she's the most beautiful queen in Europe, but I think she's real plain," said Mrs. Hoskins, who fell within the meaning of the latter adjective herself, and never would admit comliness in her sisters.

The visitor missed a stitch.

"So do I," agreed a thin woman, with straggling hair. "But then you can't tell by newspaper pictures. Myra's was awful." She always found opportunity to refer to the one day's immortality that had come to Myra.

"I read in the paper," (Mrs. Parsons) "that she's come after money."

"That's just talk," defended Mrs. Hastings, fat, dominant; her rings sparkling. "Jim says—"

The visitors listened, smiling a little, white hands weaving her needle in and out.

An automobile siren sounded. Mrs. Wetherbee hurried to the window. "I guess they've come for you, Mis' Merton," she said. "It's been a real pleasure to have you with us." The company nodded and smiled. And, walking in her stately, graceful way, the Queen of Rubidia passed from the room and from their lives, back to the splendid, prison-like structure of her life.

"While you are asking papa for my hand I'll play something lively on the piano."

He—"I'd rather you didn't, dearest. You know some people can't keep their feet still when they hear lively music."

"Poor man! And are you married?"

Beggar—"Pardon me, madam. D'ye think I'd be a relyin' on total strangers for support if I had a wife?"

Songs of Moonlight

By Monte Darrell

I LIKE songs about the moon," said Janet. "Here's an old one. Shall we try this?"

"I'll try anything," said Barry. "I like songs about the moon, too."

The others laughed. They were all gathered about the piano in the golden lamplight. Janet, who was playing, and Rose and Doris, Barry, Paul and John.

"If you said you liked Paris green, Barry would say he liked it, too," remarked Paul with a twinkle in his eye.

Doris poked him.

"You're rather embarrassing," she whispered.

"What do I care?" said Paul. "He's not the only one like that."

"No," said John. "Since the world began, moonlight has had a strange effect on man."

Janet struck a crashing chord.

"Do you want to sing this song, or don't you?" she asked.

"Yes, indeed. Come on—let's go!" they cried.

Out of doors, the white moon was shining on the hayfields, and the light filtered dreamily through the leafy trees. Within, the young voices sang gayly. "Underneath the teasing moon."

"See him cover up his face when all the clouds go by;
Seems to be playing hide-and-seek up in the sky;
And when he hears this melody—"

"I have it!" cried Barry.

"Have what?" they asked.

"You're spoiling this bee-ootiful song," said Paul.

"Beg pardon," murmured Barry, "Let's sing it all through again."

When it was finished, he announced his idea.

"Hide-and-seek," he said. "I havent played it since I was a kid, and this is a wonderful place for it. There's the house and the barn, and the field across the road—but no farther. It's a bright night, and we can use flashes, too. What do you say?"

They agreed unanimously, and some had already remembered wonderfully difficult hiding places where they used to hide when they were children.

Barry was "it," and was told to wait three minutes before beginning his search. He passed the time in repeating all the "counting out" rhymes which came to his mind. Then he started on the hunt for the missing five.

Doris he located first; she was in the wash room under a clothes basket. Paul was found in the attic, sitting on a beam. It was only by chance that Barry flashed his light up towards the roof and saw him perched there.

John was in the cellar, in a dark little niche between the chimney and the wall, and Rose was found buried in the upper hay loft from whence she emerged sneezing, and covered with chaff.

"Where's Janet?" she asked when the sneezing had subsided.

"I don't know," replied Barry. "But I'll wager you know."

"No, I don't, really," said Rose, as she brushed the dust from her dress. "I don't believe the others do, either. You say you've found them all but Janet?"

"Yes, they're in the sitting room, singing again. I wouldn't let them help me. It's more fun for each one to hunt alone when it's his turn."

They descended the ladder, and then Rose joined the group while Barry explored the barn thoroughly but vainly. He then sauntered into the field. It was a beautiful, enchanted place. The moonlight, shimmered in silvery radiance over it, and the haycocks cast queer shadows in the grass. The poplar trees along the edge of the field were things of beauty, their round, fluttering leaves as restless as ever, and their slim, gay-green trunks touched with magic light.

Barry looked about him in all directions, and explored each fragrant heap of hay. But his search was futile; so returned to the house which he searched again with great care. When this last hunt failed to reveal Janet, Barry was worried. He entered the sitting room hurriedly.

"Does anyone know where Janet is?" he asked. "I've looked everywhere, and I'm getting anxious about her."

No one knew, but they all volunteered to help, and Barry was only too willing now that they should. The house and barn received another thorough search which was as unsuccessful as the previous ones.

"I've looked in the field," said Barry. "Every single haycock."

"I'm going through the house again, cried Paul. "Some of you go over the barn again."

Three went to the house and two stayed in the barn. But Barry wandered toward the field once more, drawn irresistibly by the magic of the night.

Again he searched the shadowy heaps and found nothing. Then, slowly, he walked around the field, looking behind every tree.

Suddenly he stopped, held spellbound with surprise. There, directly before him, stood Janet. She was standing against a poplar tree, her face uplifted to the moonlight. Slim and fairylike she stood there, her gray-green dress blending exquisitely with the tree trunk.

"I have been here all the time," she said in a clear voice.

"Janet!" cried Barry. "I've been so frightened—and so worried. I didn't know what had happened to you."

"I'm sorry I frightened you," she said. "Isn't this a wonderful place to hide?"

"It surely is," agreed Barry. "I'm so glad I've found you, Janet."

"I'm glad you have, too. Were you very much worried?"

"Terribly!" cried Barry. "I—I—terribly," he repeated.

Janet smiled.

"Look, Harry," she said. "The moonlight shines right on me, and yet I'm hidden unless you're very near. Do you know why that is?"

"Camouflage," said Barry.

"No," she replied. "It's because I am 'underneath the teasing moon.'"

"It's weird," he murmured. "Like finding a fairy. But now that I've found you I'm never going to lose you again."

And he kept his word. For although, as so often happens, all the "merry party" that sang so gaily in the old farmhouse never came together again, Barry and Janet,—well you know, how the story ends.

Very Apt.

Mr. Gabbalot—And so you are the lady who is giving my wife painting lessons? What sort of a pupil is she?

Miss Daubber—Well, I find her very apt, to say the least.

That's funny. I always find her very apt to say the most.

Ebenezer as Cupid

By Margaret Taylor

ANNE LUDLEY ran a slim hand through her shining cropped locks and peered frowningly into the lifeless engine of an ancient flivver.

Anne muttered a naughty word, then gingerly poked the fanbelt with a slender forefinger. "The foolish old carburetor must be broken, or the timer, or—well, it might be spark plugs," she finished brilliantly and shrugging, sank upon the rusty running board with delicious and quite unusual disregard for the probable damages to her natty bengaline suit.

"Anne, my dear," she soliloquized, "methinks the 50 plunks that brought the comely Ebenezer into our midst were as soundly invested as the 60 berries expended last year for the purchase of Sam Towner's old cow that caught whooping cough, or whatever it is cows catch, and died two days after she had been firmly established in the family."

"The family" consisted of Grandma, Anna and 16-year-old Jimmie. Anne was 19 and a senior at the State University. Grandma, Jimmie and Anne had eked out the none-too-full family exchequer for the past four years by various ventures in farming. One year Jimmie's sows had captured all sorts of prizes, but last year, Anne's venture, a Jersey cow, proved quite a failure, and Grandma had already started turning Anne's two-year-old coat inside out.

But they had taken their ups and downs philosophically, and this year Grandma's investment in a Ford seemed practical.

Jimmie loaded it with vegetables twice a week and wheezed "over town" to old Mr. Whitcomb's general grocery store. The results had been gratifying, but accidents will happen—especially to $50 ancient flivvers—and Anne, from her lowly seat on the running board, gave vent to her turbulent feelings (Anne's hair verged on the auburn shade) by firing a convenient rock at an unoffending chipmunk, who, with a flash of bushy tail, streaked over a nearby wall leaving her alone.

The sun began its descent behind the clouds. She watched it in silence for a while—then, at last, magically, it disappeared, leaving the heavens stained with soft glowing hues.

"This," remarked Anne aloud crossing her silken-clad legs and gazing at them unseeingly, "begins to be interesting. Eight miles to Middletown; 10 back to Holliston. Grandma, of course, will think that I've stayed in town with one of the girls."

Holliston was the shopping district for miles around. Eaarly that morning Anne had chugged merrily in that direction, presumably to buy fur for the unfinished coat, but, in reality, her hard-earned dollars were to purchase a birthday gift for Grandma. Birthdays in the Dudley family were religiously observed.

Anne arose and gazed hopefully down the narrow country road wihch wound its way into nothingness. Though usually of a blithe and cheery nature, she began to feel a trifle dampened in spirits. Such thoughts as "Please meet me tonight in the moonlight," flitted through her active cerebrum. A cold wave shimmied up her straight little spine.

Why, oh, why, did her old ice wagon have to go on the fritz in front of the old Indian burying ground? Oh, for the sound of a human voice . . . anything to break the monotony of that awful stillness. . . . Thump. . . . Thump. Anne's heart performed a marvelous gymnastical feat, her blood ran cold, as she stared with unbelieving eyes at the white, ghostly apparition, wending its eerie way toward her from the old Indian burying ground. In the gathering dusk only a blurred whiteness was discernible. With a shriek. Anne spun around, obsessed by a sudden decisiou to cover the eight miles to the waiting hearth in five minutes.

Mercury's winged sandals had nothing on Anne's Spanish-heeled pumps as they flashed a patent leather challenge in the twilight. Stones and boulders were as nothing in her mad flight down the rocky road. Tearing her eyes from the road ahead, she cast a fearful glance behind. The "thing" was gaining on her, floating along with unearthly speed. Just when Anne, weak and faltering, had decided that Jimmy would henceforth go through life sisterless, the tense silence was broken by a loud puffing voice which yelled rather indecorously. "I say what's the big rush?"

Anna stopped short in her tracks, experiencing a mixed feeling of weakness and relief. If this was the ghost of old Chief Eat-Um-Up he certainly had a nice voice! Swinging around, she permitted her surprised gaze to rest on the white-knickered and sweatered form of Alec Vance, the tall, curly-haired instructor at the Boys' School in Middletown.

Alec had been the proud possession of Elaine Dunham at the Country Club dance the previous night and had aroused Elaine's ire by his quite obvious attentions to Anne, who, in turn, although she kept reminding herself how she hated men with curly hair, had a secret suspicion that she had fallen hard for Alec Vance. Now her usually well behaved heart did a queer thing for the second time that evening, before she retorted, making a brave attempt to bring out the foolish explanation airily, "I—er—well, I just decided to run into town before dark—to—well, to get a mechanic to fix up my car."

"That's me," grinned Vance. "You see, I got so interested in digging up old Indian relics," proudly displaying a few old arrowheads, "that I just naturally forgot all about the time. Guess I'd have been stranded there all night if Ebenezer hadn't developed a stubborn streak."

After numerous intelligent conferences with the intestines of the old car, a twist of the crank excited a joyous chug-chug and Anne, Alec and Ebenezer spun off in the soft twilight.

Overhead at the Ludley threshold: "Say Anne, don't forget—8:15 sharp tomorrow night!"

"Don't worry, Alec, you'll find me waiting and ready at 9—and by the way, you know—I've decided I rather like curly hair!"

A victim of chronic bronchitis called on a well-known physician to be examined. The doctor, after careful questioning, assured the patient that the ailment would respond readily to treatment.

"I suppose you must have had a great deal of experience with this disease," said the sufferer.

The physician smiled wisely, and replied:

"Why, my dear sir, I've had bronchitis myself for more than 15 years."

"Now I know why mamma said you had good taste," said little Elsie.

"Why?" asked the curious caller.

"You ate up all our strawberries," replied the child.

TO GIVE MESSAGE ON SALVATION IN GRACE CHURCH

The services at Grace M. E. church are continuing to be of interest to those that are in attendance each night. Rev. Epler gave a very heart searching message last night; he urged the Christians to prove their love and devotion at all times, stating that there was no joy in giving up the Christian walk of life to return to the love and past pleasures of the world.

"Steps to Salvation" will be the topic tonight. It is hoped that a good number will be present to hear Rev. Epler. Special musical numbers will be rendered. Miss Florence Thompson will sing a solo. The choir will also render a special number. An invitation is extended to all the public.

COAL PRODUCTION SHOWS DECREASE

(International News Service)

CRESSON, Pa., Feb. 23. — A decrease of 1,090,865 tons from the 1926 output was shown in a report of the soft coal production for 1927 in the Tenth Bituminous District, comprising parts of Cambria and Blair counties, made public today by State Mine Inspector Alexander Jack. The drop in tonnage is attributed chiefly to the miners' strike.

Plan Tuberculosis Campaign In March

Local Society To Aid In Nation Wide Movement Against "White Plague"

Let your doctor decide, for to procrastinate with tuberculosis is to gamble with death, will be the slogan for a nation wide campaign for the early diagnosis of tuberculosis beginning in March, says Miss Della Glenn executive secretary of the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society.

It is a well known fact continues Miss Glenn, that although facts have been shouted from the housetops for the past 20 years, doctors still report that most of the cases of tuberculosis which come to them for the first examination are in an advanced stage of the disease. A recent census of the patients in tuberculosis sanatoria in the United States shows that only 16 per cent are diagnosed as early cases on entrance.

The aim of the campaign starting in March will be two-fold: First, to focus the attention of the public at large upon the danger signs of early tuberculosis and to urge them to go to their doctor for examination and second to stimulate renewed interest on the part of the medical profession in the recognition of early signs of tuberculosis.

At the annual meeting of the American Public Health association held last fall at Cincinnati the general plan of the anti-tuberculosis campaign was heartily endorsed and the American Medical association has agreed to stimulate interest of the medical profession through its journal and to interest the lay public by publishing articles and editorials on the subject in Hygeia.

State and county and city tuberculosis and health associations will organize meetings at which talks will be given, motion pictures shown and pamphlets distributed, all emphasizing teh importance of early diagnosis. The National Tuberculosis association is preparing millions of pieces of printed matter for distribution through its affiliated societies. A motion picture designed for the lay audience and called "Let the Doctor Decide" and another for the medical profession entitled "The Doctor Decides" will be used in the campaign.

Heroic Rescue Of Southern Woman At Sea Is Told

Woman Rescued From Drowning In Mountainous Shark Infested Sea

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A tale of extraordinary heroism, of the rescue of a woman from mountainous shark-infested seas, while 450 passengers watched, was told with the arrival here Wednesday of the Anchor liner California, from Bermuda.

The battle to save the woman, Mrs. Luther Z. Rosser, wife of an Atlanta, Ga., supreme court judge lasted 45 minutes, the latter part being fought in semi-darkness with the ship's spotlight playing on the scene.

The rescue took place in Grassy bay, three miles off Hamilton, Bermuda. Mrs. Rosser was left in a hospital there for treatment.

Literary Teams To Meet April 30

Grove City Will Likely Be Scene Of Mercer Literary Round Up

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 23.—The annual round-up of the literary teams of the 15 Mercer County High schools that are included in the county Debating league will be held on the date of April 20th, it is announced by officers of the league.

The place of holding the round-up has not been selected as yet but in view of the fact that the location has been accepted in rotation Grove City would be next in line of selection as it has been held in Mercer, Sharon and Greenville.

It is understood that the contest of this year will offer many attractive features. It will be the fifth annual one held.

The teams will contest in the usual forensic activities of oration, essay, recitation, declamation, extemporaneous speaking and vocal and instrumental music.

Sharpsville Church Asks Incorporation

Business Can Be Conducted Better Than As Congregation, Is Thought

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 23.—A petition asking right to incorporate the Grace Reformed church of Sharpsville have been filed here signed by four members of the board of elders and four deacons who will act as a board of trustees the petition sets forth.

The right to incorporate asked by this church is a line of proceedure followed out by many churches of the county in transacting their business as being less unwieldy than to transact business as a congregation.

The court signed order today authorizing the necessary legal publications on this petition.

Following the publications the court will set return date when if no objections are filed the petition will be granted.

Letter Contains Man's Confession To Brutal Crime

Murderer Of New York Governess Pens Letter Of Confession; Returns Bonds

THREATENS SUICIDE IF APPREHENDED

First Definite Clue In Killing Of Miss Margaret Brown Obtained Today

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The first definite clew to the whereabouts of the "torch murderer," who drugged, robbed and burned Miss Margaret Brown, a cultured governess, to death in the woods near Morristown, N. J., came today in the form of an anonymous letter. The writer of the communication admitted the murder and declared that if he is caught he will commit suicide.

"Au Revoir" was the signature on the letter which was postmarked Newark, N. J., and addressed to the chief of police of Bernardsville, N. J.

With the letter were enclosed two $1,000 bonds and one $500 gold certificate, said to have been Miss Brown's property. She was reported to have saved $9,000 in bonds and cash.

The anonymous letter came while New York and New Jersey authorities were running down numerous clues, chief of which was that Miss Brown was the victim of a glib-tongued schemer who posed as a "doctor", courted her for two months, induced her to withdraw her savings from the bank and then killed her for her money.

Confesses Brutal Killing

The letter said that the murderer had met Miss Brown in New York City and had driven her into New Jersey to a lonely spot on the Morristown-Bernardsville road, where she was found aflame last Monday night.

He made advances to her. When she repulsed him he struck her on the head. The blow made her unconscious. Fearing that she was dead, the writer of the communication said he dragged the body behind an abandoned refreshment stand, sprinkled gasoline over the clothing, ignited the gasoline and drove back to Newark.

The authorities will visit the banks in New York City where Miss Brown kept her accounts to determine whether the bonds returned to the Bernardsville police belonged to her.

The postmark on the letter indicated it had been mailed Tuesday. It was addressed simply to the Bernardsville police.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL WILL GIVE PLAY

Afternoon And Evening Performance At Franklin Auditorium On Next Thursday

Franklin Junior high school will present the play "Xerxes" on Thursday afternoon and evening, March 1 at the Franklin auditorium in which some 60 students will take part including a chorus of 30 voices under the direction of Miss Esther Gibbons, teacher of music in the school.

The play which is now being rehearsed by the cast is founded on the book of Esther in the Old Testament and is supposed to have been written 640 B. C. It pictures the scenes in that old oriental empire of Xerxes and the influence of Queen Esther in saving her people.

The afternoon performance will be given at 2:30 o'clock so that it will be convenient for school children. Tickets for school children at the afternoon performance will be ten cents. The evening performance will be at 8:00 o'clock with an admission of ten and fifteen cents.

Following is the outline of the play with the cast and chorus:—

Prologue—"The Jews Lament".

Reader—"In ten short days shall none be left alive of all the accursed race".

Act I—The Queen's Garden.

Reader—"Unfaltering she comes—a hush heavy as doom on the courtyard falls".

Act II—The Inner Chamber of King Xerxes.

Reader—"Ay, well may the heart of Israel leap for joy! The doom of death hath surely passed them by!"

Act III—Queen Esther's Garden.

ALLEGED PASSER OF BAD CHECKS ARRESTED

William L. Hill, said to be from Erie, and said by the police authorities to be the representative of a bad debt collecting agency, was arrested at noon today on Washington street while in his automobile by Detective John Young and taken to the city police station, where he is being held pending the investigation of charges of passing bad checks here and in Erie, which have been made against him. The Erie authorities have been notified and as soon as it has been learned what the Erie authorities want done, the local angle of the alleged charges will be investigated.

According to a statement from the police station this afternoon reports have been sent to the police station here by five New Castle persons complaining about checks given to them by Hill, or endorsed by them for Hill. These cases are being investigated.

Reed has repudiated a confession made after the crime in which he declared he wished to avoid marriage and fatherhood.

DR. H. C. HARPER TALKS TO CLUB

Discusses Immunization Against Diphtheria As Being Accomplished Here

One of the most enlightening expositions of toxin anti-toxin heard in some time was delivered to the members of the Legion Lunch club today at noon in the Legion home by Dr. H. C. Harper, county medical officer for Lawrence county.

Prefacing his address Dr. Harper went into the history of vaccination against smallpox and said that as a result, smal' pox was a rare disease today. Then came the innoculation against typhoid fever during the World war and typhoid was eliminated. Later came anit-toxin for the killing of the diphtheria germs after the disease had started, and now toxin anti-toxin which is a phophylaxis or immunization against the disease.

In rural districts where diphtheria was a common thing three years ago, it is now practically extinct, said Dr. Harper, due to toxin-anti-toxin. In the city the same favorable results have been achieved where it has been used and he prophesied that what little opposition there was to it now would soon be dissipated through education and observation of results.

"It is absolutely safe" said Dr. Harper "and in all my experience I have never seen an unfavorable reaction to it, or sickness caused by it. It has immunized school children against the dread diphtheria and to my mind is a blessing".

Dr. Harper is a member of the American Legion, was a medical office in the Spanish-American war, a medical officer on the Mexican border, a major in the medical corps during the World war and has given years of study and research to public health. His address on Toxin-Anti-Toxin should be heard by every organization in the city.

Waynesburg Wins Over Salem 30-28

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 23. — Waynesburg barely nosed out Salem College of Ohio here last night in the best game played here this season. The score was 30-28. The lead seesawed back and forth with the score tied a half-dozen times. With the locals behind 26-28 and hardly a minute of play remaining, Kistler and Frank of Waynesburg sunk field goals.

National Beauties To Make Tour Of Stores

Miss Larson, The Fashion Queen of America, and other National Beauties who are with Varieties and Models of 1928, appearing at the Capitol Theatre today, Friday and Saturday, will make a shopping tour of the stores of the many merchants sponsoring their appearance in this city.

The places they will visit are as follows:

Jack Gerson, jeweler.
Neiman's store,
McKinley & Frantz drug store.
Haney Furniture company,
Milleman Music company.
Smith, the Cleaners.

The Beauties will make the tour in a Great Six Willys-Knight sedan furnished by the Rick-Overland Co.

The public is invited to be present at any of the above stores during the shopping tour and meet the beauties.

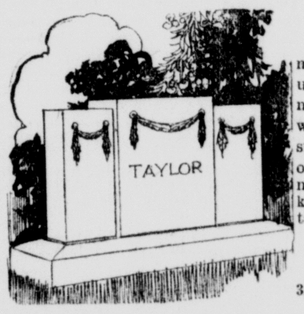
Disturbed Sleep

For Bladder Relief is Nature's Way of Telling you "Danger Ahead." A Healthy Bladder Does Not Act At Night.

Mrs. B. F. Myers, Shirleysburg, Pa., says in her own home paper, the Altoona Tribune: "I am willing to tell or write of the relief obtained from Keller's Lithiated Buchu. The first bottle helped and the second made me almost well. I had to get up 10 to 12 times every night. My husband was also benefited."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as epsom salts do on the bowels. Drives out foreign deposits and lessens excessive acidity. This relieved the irritation that causes "Getting up nights." The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio or locally at Paisley's Pharmacy.



ENDURING MONUMENTS

The monuments and markers we make and engrave are everlasting. We use the best grades of granites and marbles, the engraving is deep cut, and we set in a solid body of concrete to insure permanence. We have a number of designs on exhibition, and we also make memorials, monuments and markers to order. We look after every detail.

Evangelistic Work Enlarging Numbers Of Conversions

One Hundred And Thirty-Six Join Local Churches Of Campaign Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23.—Revealed at a dinner--meeting for the Evangelistic workers during the campaign here this week, was the fact that to date 136 new members have joined the various churches. The dinner took place in the First Presbyterian church, and a fine menu started the 100 men off on an enthusiastic trip to add even more new members to the large list already compiled.

The list does not include many prospects who may join later. The workers travel in pairs, and each evening report their successes of the night before, at a dinner-meeting in one of the churches.

Tonight the dinner will be served by the ladies of the United Presbyterian church. Each evening, Homer Welch who is directing the campaign, hears their reports, and stimulates the men to further efforts. The campaign is the first of its kind in Ellwood City, and is receiving encouraging success. The campaign will close Saturday night and will be followed by a series of eight community services.

Chamber Continues Group Meetings

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23.—All this week group meetings are being conducted by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of outlining plans for activities of the chamber. Each group meets with Secretary Norman Rearic, and suggestions are forwarded and filed. At the close of all the meetings, the suggestions will be made known to the entire membership and voted on. The meetings are valuable for stimulating interest in the chamber and at the same time give each member of that organization an opportunity to do his bit for Ellwood City and better business.

Kiwanians To Hear Dr. Payne Speak

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23.—At the regular weekly dinner-meeting of the local Kiwanis club this evening in the Methodist church, Dr. Charles Payne, a widly noted world traveler and Chautauqua lecturer. He will give an address on "The Romance of the Northwest."

Yesterday seven members of the Ellwood club, attended the New Castle club meeting to make-up their attendance so as to keep up the high percentage of 100 per cent enjoyed for some months by the local club. At 8:30 this evening the board of directors of the club will conduct an important meeting in the church.

Rev. Stough To Speak Here Tonight

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23.—Rev. F. E. Stough of St. John's Trinity Lutheran church of New Castle will give an address at the Trinity Lutheran church of this city tonight, and also tomorrow night on the subject of evangelism. Rev. Stough has many local friends, having visited here several times. He is an able speaker and president of the West conference.

Special Prayer Services During Lent At Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23. — Rev. Robert Little of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city announces that during Lent a special series of prayer meetings will be conducted each Wednesday night in the church, empnasizing the importance of the present season.

The first meeting took place last night with W. H. Butler of the First Presbyterian church of New Castle as the speaker. Mr. Butler is a well-known missionary worker and was converted to the work by Billy Sunday. In a most interesting manner he told of his conversion and subsequent experiences.

Matrons Entertain At Bridge-Luncheon At Elks Club Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23.—Mrs. Carl Davidson and Mrs. Charles Ross of this city entertained at a dainty and colorful bridge-luncheon Wednesday afternoon at the Elks club. Covers were laid for 68 guests, at tables centered with crimson carnations, the same bright tones being carried out in the tallies and placecards. At the foot of the stairway in the hall was placed an effective basket of tulips and lillies.

Aids to the hostesses were: Mrs. W. R. Johnston, Mrs. L. E. Springer, Mrs. W. H. Frazier and Mrs. Tillman R. Snedden.

During the afternoon 13 tables of bridge were in play, and seven ladies enjoyed kensington. High score honors for bridge went to Mrs. Tillman Snedden, Mrs. J. M. Stoughton and Mrs. Frank Blackburn, while Mrs. Arthur Roeloff emerged victorious in the kensington contests.

Legion And Ladies Enjoy Social Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23.—About 54 members of the American Legion and Legion auxiliary enjoyed a joint social evening in the Legion rooms on Sixth street Wednesday evening.

The diversions of the evening were cards and dancing. At the conclusion of an interesting series of games, Mrs. C W. McDanel and Lee Sekulski were score honor winners. Later a program of dancing and lunch was enjoyed. The party was under the direction of Dr. Fred Swarnson and his committee, and is one of a series of parties to be given in the Legion rooms.

GUESTS OF FRIEND IN PITTSBURGH

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23—Miss Margaret Clyde, Miss Roma Menold and Miss Helen Menold were local guests at a bridge-luncheon given by Miss Rachel Dobler of Pittsburgh yesterday. Miss Helen Menold was high score among the guests. Later the local party attended a performance of "Oh Kay," before returning to this city.

Games Result In Triple Tie In Shelby League

Mechanical, Hot Mills And Office Departmental Teams Tied For First Place

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 23.—The usual large crowd cheered the various fine plays made in the games between the four department teams of the National Tube mill on the floor of the Shelby auditorium Wednesday evening.

The first game, between the Mechanical and Office teams, was won by the latter with a score of 27 to17. The second game, between the Hot Mills and the Inspection resulted in a victory for the former with a score of 32 to 22. The results of the two above games caused a triple-tie between the Mechanical, Hot Mills and Office teams, and will make the season more interesting in the frenzied clash for first place in the second half of the season.

The teams will play again Saturday, the game between the Mechanical team and the Hot Mill five taking place at 7:30 and a game between the Inspection team and the Office quintet starting at 8:45.

Surgeon Discards Knife For Iron In Major Operations

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—Professor M. Bier, one of Germany's foremost surgeons, has abandoned the knife, otherwise the indispensible instrument of surgeons, and operates suppurations likely to develop into blood poisoning with a "red hot iron."

By burning out the infected tissues instead of cutting them Professor Bier has saved more than two hundred patients from almost certain death. Lecturing on his new methods before the Berlin Medical Society, the famous surgeon revealed that by applying "fire" instead of a knife he went back to the oldest methods in the art of surgical operations, namely to Aristotle.

Professor Bier burns out the infected tissues and closes the wound "imperfectly," which has always been considered a crime by scrupulous surgeons. The inflammation and fever following the operation are, in Bier's eyes, the most important healing factors.

Bier performs his operations with an apparatus constructed by his assistant Dr. Hadenfeldt and has applied this new method even in hopeless cases of child-bed fever.

Next War Will Not Be Won By Planes

(International News Service)

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Feb. 23.—The next war may start in the air but it will be settled on the ground according to Col. John Paegelow commandant of Scott Field, veteran of 31 years army life who has been in the air service since 1917.

"If you hear that airplanes and airships will win the next war, forget it" Col. Paegelow stated. "The next war may start in the air but it will wind up on the ground. We may bomb the enemy from the air but it will wind up on the ground.

Fliers are not the superman some believe them to be but just highly trained, efficient, hard working humans, Paegelow declared.

The last 20 applicants at Scott field were refused admittance on his corps, Paegelow said in explaining the rigid mental and physical requirements for the air service which is steadily raising its standards of admission.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Ex-Czar's Gold Watch Lost From Vast Collection

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Feb. 23.—The diamond and pearl-studded gold watch of Czar Alexander III, father of the murdered Czar Nikolas II, has been stolen from a state commission shop where many precious jewels of the former nobility were on sale. The watch was valued at $10,000 for its gold and jewels alone. It was carried by Alexander when assassinated in Leningrad 35 years ago by two bombs hurled at his carriage. A dent on the outer casing marks the spot where one of the pieces of shrapnel hit the timepiece.

Thieves gained entrance to the shop by sawing the bars of a rear window. They took nothing of historical value except the watch. Police incline to the belief that the robbery was engineered by those who did not like to see czarist possessions pass into the hands of anybody having the price.

PARENT-TEACHERS MEETING, WEDNESDAY

The Parent-Teachers association of Rose avenue school met Wednesday afternoon at the school. From 2 until 3 o'clock the parents were entertained with a gymnasium exhibition in charge of Miss Mildred Smith and Miss Katherine Beighley.

The business meeting followed with Mrs. Wilfred Thomas and Miss Iretta Dart in charge.

Miss Alice Stewart told of the need of a new library in the school and Miss Anna Fox explained in detail the library which now exists. Readings were given by Miss Helen Blaha and vocal selections by Mrs. Bernard.

The following committees were appointed: Membership, Mrs. A. W. Newell, Mrs. M. B. Bates, Mrs. Echonfield, Mrs. Joseph Ryan and Mrs. J. C. Foringer; press, Mrs. C. L. Davis, Mrs. John Fisher and Mrs. J. W. Miller and reception Mrs. G. H. Colnot, Mrs. Earl McKnight, Mrs. D. V. Brown, Mrs. Thomas McCandless, Mrs. William Fullerton, Mrs. Rowland Sage and Mrs. G. V. Campbell.

Plans were made for a St. Patrick's social with Mrs. Arnold Evans and Mrs. C. L. Davis as committee chairman.

Seeks Hoosier Office

Indiana politicians are regarding with interest the announcement that Olin R. Holt, 33, Kokomo attorney and counsel for D. C. Stephenson, former Hoosier Klan leader now serving a life sentence at Michigan City, Ind., for murder of a girl, has entered the Democratic gubernatorial campaign. Holt was a candidate in 1924, running third in a field of eight. He now is preparing a writ of coram nobis which he declares will free Stephenson.

Court Opinions Are Handed Down

Judge J. A. Chambers Renders Decision In Cases Before Court

Opinions were handed down by Judge James A. Chambers this morning in four cases which had recently been tried before him.

In the case of Mrs. Isabelle Burke McClure against the New Castle Dry Goods company, motion by defendant for judgement notwithstanding the verdict and the plaintiff's motion for a new trial are refused.

This means that the verdict of $1,100 awarded by the jury stands. The case was one in which Mrs. McClure was badly injured by a fall on the stairs at the store of the New Castle Dry Goods company.

It was claimed that a scrub woman had been at work on the stairs and by reason of the soap and suds the stairs had been made slippery and were not in a safe condition, when Mrs. McClure fell.

In the case of Thomas R. McCombs against Henry C. Turner, motion by defendant for a judgment notwithstanding the verdict is refused and a new trial is granted.

This was a case in which James McComb, who was driving the automobile of his father, Thomas R. McComb, collided with a car driven by Henry C. Turner, at the corner of Edgewood and Highland avenues. Verdict for $361.63 damage to machine was awarded in favor of the plaintiff. The defendant asked for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence.

Rule to show cause why judgment should not be opened in the case of Samuel H. McKee and others, trustee, against W. W. Smeal, was discharged. The case grew out of some notes given in an automobile transaction. Judgment was confessed for $276.28 which stands, according to the opinion of the court.

In the case of the Humphrey Dispenser company against Graham Pierce, an action to recover the price of a soft drink outfit, known as an Humphrey Jr. Orange outfit, motion of defendant for judgment notwithstanding the verdict is overruled, and a new trial is granted unless the defendant within ten days files a stipulation disclaiming ownership.

In this case it was contended by the plaintiff that there had been an oral sale of the outfit, while the defendant claimed that the sale had been made subject to certain conditions which were unfulfilled.

When You Catch Cold Rub On Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away. It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

MEMBER QUALITY BAKERS OF AMERICA By Invitation Only

This Mark Stands for Bread Goodness

HERE is a bit of information that we are sure will give you a pretty good slant on Quality Bakers of America.

We 90 wholesale bakers, constituting the membership of this organization, got together on a sound plan at the start. It is a sound plan because it deals with the human element, and that means that it is practical and workable.

We all know that if we begin as rivals or competitors we would not get along at all, any more than two families living under the same roof and in the same quarters can get along without having frequent jars.

Therefore, we began on a friendly basis and with a full understanding, because we are strictly cooperative and mutually helpful.

So we get along peacefully and harmoniously.

After all, is not this the way to get along anyway, whether in business or in our social contacts?

What is the use of wasting time in trying to be friendly with people who don't want to be friendly with you? Don't quarrel with them—just let them alone. Maybe your example will help them eventually.

We are the only member of Quality Bakers of America in this territory, and we don't mind telling you that we feel very good about it. It is an honor that we prize. It came to us upon invitation after our reputation had been put to the acid test.

We were selected, not necessarily because we were thought to occupy a higher place in this section than any other good baker, but our qualifications were all summed up in one very important conclusion, namely, we were found to have HONEST INTENT to cooperate fully and sincerely with others in order to become a Better Baking Institution, so that always we could give the public the very best Quality Products and regular, high-class and efficient service—economical and intelligent.

Quality Bakers of America insist that every member must consider first—and always thereafter—giving the public the best possible service and never to vary in Quality Production.

We regard our membership in Quality Bakers of America as having brought to us a better and higher conception of our responsibility to the people of this section—not that we have not always tried to do our best by you, but now, through the friendliest kind of cooperation with 89 other members, we just know that we are able to give you a better service than we could if we tried to give it to you alone.

Our membership has proved as big a piece of good fortune to you, readers, as it has to us.

You get Quality Products from us every day—not good one day and indifferent the next, but good all the time.

This is an advantage to both you and to us. You can depend on us and we can depend on you.

Is not this the basis for continued confidence, mutual understanding, and the steady building of good will?

What would any business amount to anyway, if it did not gain and hold the good will and confidence of the people it serves every day?

ORR'S QUALITY TWIN LOAF

Are you fooling yourself three times a day?

THAT caffein beverage you take with your meals—it seems to "pick you up"—to make you feel better.

Don't be fooled! It's the warmth of the drink that brings an immediate sense of comfort. The caffein gets in its full effect hours later, when you want to relax and rest or sleep. Then this artificial stimulant lashes your nerves—drives sleep away—keeps your brain pounding when you long for rest.

Try this test!

Make this simple change in diet: Give up caffein—try Postum instead! Postum's friendly warmth and mellow flavor will give you the mealtime "pick up" you want. And it won't get on your nerves afterward! For Postum is made of roasted whole wheat and bran—not a trace of any stimulant in it. Postum can't affect sleep, can't cause nervousness or indigestion, as caffein beverages do.

The best way to test Postum is to make it your mealtime drink for thirty days. Then note the difference in your health! See how much better you sleep—how much better you feel! Get Postum at your grocer's—either Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, or Postum Cereal, the kind you boil.

The Epic Of Beecher's Island—Part XXI
The Rescue

ON THE THIRD DAY AFTER HE LEFT CHEYENNE WELLS, CAPT. CARPENTER WAS SEARCHING AMONG THE HILLS AND VALLEYS OF EASTERN COLORADO FOR "SANDY" FORSYTH'S COMMAND. NONE OF CARPENTER'S SCOUTS WAS FAMILIAR WITH THE TERRITORY AND HE SENT RIDERS TO THE HIGHEST POINTS TO LOOK FOR BEECHER'S ISLAND.

EIGHTEEN MILES HAD BEEN COVERED AND IT WAS STILL EARLY IN THE MORNING WHEN CARPENTER SAW ONE OF HIS SCOUTS SIGNALING EXCITEDLY FROM THE TOP OF A HIGH HILL JOINING THE MAN, THE OFFICER LOOKED DOWN UPON THE WINDING ARICKAREE, AND THE ISLAND ON WHICH GREW A SOLITARY COTTONWOOD TREE.

CARPENTER AND HIS TROOPERS RACED WILDLY TOWARD THE RIVER. THERE WAS NO SIGN OF LIFE ON THE LONELY LITTLE ISLAND, AND AS THEY RODE THEY PRAYED THEY WOULD FIND SOME OF FORSYTH'S MEN ALIVE.

BUT AS THE RIDERS CROSSED THE NARROW STREAM, A LITTLE GROUP OF GAUNT MEN IN BUCKSKIN ROSE FROM THE SHALLOW RIFLE PITS AND STAGGERED FORTH TO GREET THEIR RESCUERS WITH FEEBLE HURRAHS AND TEARS OF JOY. THE MEETING WAS DRAMATIC.

WALSH PICKS McLARNIN TO BEAT TERRIS

Lightweights To Box Friday Night

Billy Wallace Says Terris Will Win From Coast Battler

BROADWAY GAMBLING ON TERRIS TO WIN

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—"Too many gloves and too many feet."

Thus came the word to town today from Billy Wallace, one of the big shots of the division, on the stand-out lightweight fight of the season tomorrow night between Sid Terris and Jimmy McLarnin.

Wallace thinks that Terris will win for the reasons quoted and his ideas rate attention because, so far as I know, he is the only man who has met both the principals and has had an opportunity to make an intensive study of feet and gloves, mostly the latter.

He is among the growing few who have had Terris looking intently at the arc lights from the flat of his back during recent fights; in fact, Sidney was a Salvation Army man several times during the Wallace fight—down, yes, out, no. Billy, on the other hand, forsook the perpendicular, if I recall the matter, during his meeting with McLarnin.

Yet he says Terris, the man he dropped at least twice, is too fast for the man who dropped him. Perhaps that is the way Broadway reconciles its odds of 8 to 5 on Terris. I happen to prefer believing otherwise.

Easterners Skeptical

Eastern skepticism of something it hasn't seen looks the part of a more logical answer to me. The boys have heard that McLarnin knocked out Jackie Fields and Joey Sangor, but this happened in California, and they simply didn't see it done. They admit the general understanding that McLarnin stopped Louis Kid Kaplan, but this circumstance, unfortunately, took place in the Middle West.

For all I know, they may doubt that Lindbergh flew the Atlantic. They didn't see that done, either.

Anyhow, the feeling of prejudice is there beyond any doubt. One writer today complained bitterly about McLarnin failing to do his training within the city limits. He seemed to think that James had something to conceal when, as a matter of fact, the young man really has nothing to prove. He either proved it against such men as Wallace, Kaplan, Sangor, Fields, La Barba and Villa or the form sheets of boxing are utterly worthless.

The National Boxing Association must have been susceptible to the same idea, for it was only yesterday that President Donohue decided that he would rate McLarnin among the lightweight contenders if he beats Terris. In case McLarnin does, he will be beyond either help or hindrance from Mr. Donohue and all his works and pomps. He will be the lightweight contender of the day and age.

Broadway Likes Sid

Of course, he must do 135 pounds at two o'clock or the whole bet is off like a hat in church. McLarnin weighed 137 pounds for the Wallace fight. This fact apparently has caused Broadway and the N. B. A. to regard him as a welterweight. But it doesn't seem likely that he would have made the match with Terris if he didn't know what he could do on the scales.

However, Broadway is betting the other way, which, for all I may know, may be the most encouraging thing that has happened to McLarnin since he first started breathing and found it was free to the public.

PITT QUINTET DEFEATS TECH FOR THIRD TIME

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23. — For the third time this year a story was told today about a basketball spanking administered to Carnegie Tech by Pitt. The game was played last night. The score was 59-38. It marked Pitt's sixteenth victory without defeat. Of the trio of games played by Pitt and Tech this year, last night's was the most interesting, with a number of sensational field goals basketed by both sides.

New Castle High Will Play Evans City Saturday

New Castle High Floor Team To End League Season On Saturday

New Castle High School basketball team will end their 1928 Section III league schedule on Saturday night of this week, at Evans City.

The locals must win at Evans City on Saturday night to deadlock the section in the event that Butler High downs New Brighton at Butler on Friday night. As the situation stands today the possibility exists that Butler and New Castle will be forced to play an extra game to determine the championship of the section.

New Castle defeated Evans City here at the start of the season 29 to 12, and they should repeat on Saturday night, but the Evans City boys have shown a marked improvement since their battle here and have caused quite a lot of trouble to the league leaders in the past few games.

In the event of a deadlock for the sectional title, it will be up to the Butler and New Castle High officials to select a suitable place for playing off the tie. The game may be played at the Pitt Stadium and then again it may be played at some other court in near locality.

Geneva To Meet Conference Rivals

Waynesburg And Bethany To Be Next During Next Few Days

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 23. — Geneva is engaged in a critical part of the basketball season. Games are scheduled in the near future with Waynesburg and Bethany, Conference rivals. Waynesburg will be met on the High School floor on Friday night. The Yellow Jackets have been playing great basketball of late and hold two recent victories over W. and J. runners-up in the so-called "Big Four." A great basketball game is anticipated.

The Geneva Reserves, with an impressive record, play the Standard Sanitary a preliminary game. Coach McMillin and the local fans were greatly disappointed by the Covenanter showing against Grove City. The team defeated themselves with their over-anxiety and missed sufficient "cinch" shots and fouls to easily win the game.

All the remaining games are Conference games and the Coach and players are determined to improve Geneva's position in the Conference race. There is an excellent chance for Geneva to finish in second or third position. Ransom, giant center, whose loss has been keenly felt, is about ready to start and may be in the Waynesburg game. Lloyd, who has been out of the last two games through sickness is also ready to return. Geneva meets Bethany on the High School floor on Monday next. The game was regularly scheduled for Tuesday, the 20th. The Bisons are in third place in the Conference standing, just ahead of the Covenanters, and a victory over Bethany could advance Geneva and wipe away the sting of a previous defeat suffered at Bethany.

Shamrocks Defeat Union Alumni 38-10

The Shamrocks defeated the Union High Alumni 38 to 10 in a game played at the Rose avenue gym floor on Wednesday night.

The score at the end of the first half favored the Shamrocks 10 to 5. In the final half of the game the Shamrocks tallied 28 points to five for the Union Alumni. J. Mehalic and Panas were the big scorers with five baskets apiece. Horchler played best for the Union team.

The summary:

Shamrocks		Union Hi Alumni
Ferry	F	Gibson
J. Mehalic	F	Horchler

CUBS HAVE PAIR OF PROMISING ROOKIES

(International News Service)

CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Feb. 23. —Manager Joe McCarthy of the cubs is spending a good many minutes of his time each day in tutoring a couple of his promising recruit hurlers. They are Granville Bush, brother and stable mate of the veteran guy, and "Snipe" Hansen, a lanky southpaw. There's a real ball game scheduled for Sunday. A sailors' team from a battleship in the harbor sent in a challenge and McCarthy accepted.

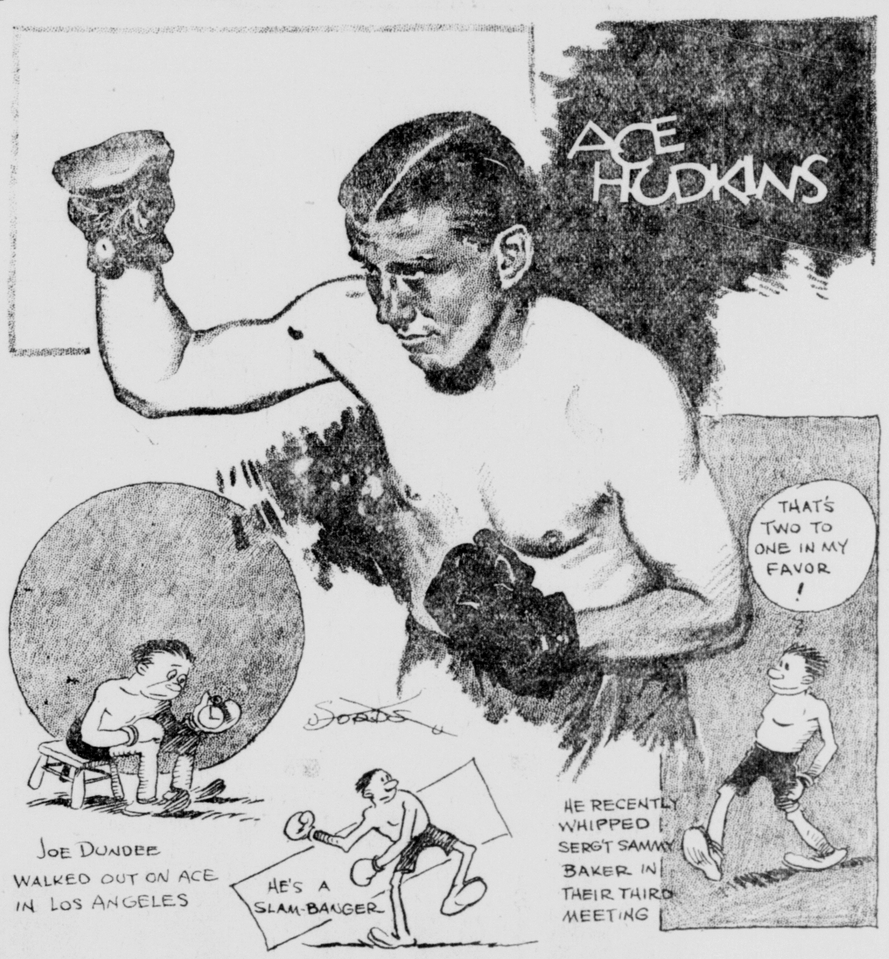
SORDS POINTS—By Jack Sords

Chance At Welterweight Crown Is At Last Within Reach Of Ace Hudkins, Nebraska's Wildcat



About the only thing of interest to Ace Hudkins now is a crack at the welterweight title. And with his second victory over Sergeant Sammy Baker in the record books, it looks as though the Nebraska Wildcat's chance is here at last.

It wasn't so long ago that the Ace's ambition was to be king of the lightweights. But the passage of time also brought weight to the Nebraskan, and now he is in the class ruled over by Joe Dundee.

On the Pacific coast Dundee walked out on the Wildcat last November because all the dough scheduled for the champ wasn't ready when fight time came.

Ever since that night last November Ace has been aching to let Joe feel the power of his maulies.

Hudkins is now 24, still very young, but already considering retirement from the ring after his crack at the welter crown.

The Ace isn't one of these rugged boys who can stand a long and ferocious career in the ring. Not being a boxer, he depends entirely on his smash-bang style to bring results. He is satisfied to take them all over the face if he gets the other fellow to mix.

Lewis' Victory May Stimulate Wrestling

Mike Kane Lost No Time In "Curing" Alleged "Tough Egg"

By ED. FRITZ

Wrestling is a dead letter in New Castle, but critics of that branch of athletics profess to see a stimulus in wrestling bouts throughout the nation as the result of Strangler Lewis' victory over Joe Stecher. Lewis is not unknown in this section, having visited Greenville and other nearby towns several years ago.

Strangler is already in receipt of a challenge from Han Steinke, the ponderous German, and in the state of New York the commission recognizes Steinke as the heavyweight champion. Should promoters raise enough smoke the match may be staged in Chicago, as one offer of $20,000 for the bout already has been made.

Joe Not Satisfied

Stecher is not satisfied with the result and has protested mildly over the decision of Harry Sharpe, referee in the award of the third fall to Lewis. He says one of his legs was off the mat and the other entangled in the lower rope when Lewis clamped a vice-like grip on Joe, forcing the latter's shoulders to the mat.

The defeated grappler declares they were supposed to go to the center of the ring and resume a standing posture if they went to the edge of the ring or became entangled in the ropes. He claims that as his legs were waving in the air over the edge of the ring and the ropes, it was impossible for him to defend himself.

Will Produce Argument

Apparently the result of the match will be as much discussed as the last Tunney-Dempsey fight. The referee has said nothing. In the Tunney-Dempsey battle it is alleged a long count and a neutral corner caused the argument. The vanquished mat artist complains of the alleged violation of the rule to return to the center.

Arguments generally produce action and it would not be surprising were they to wrestle again. Locally there have been no mat bouts for years, simply because a couple of bimboes came here, faked a couple of bouts and the writer was one who asked the late Mayor Newell to ban wrestling. Square mat bouts are allowed here.

Talking about wrestling recalls to our mind an experience that Mike Kane, genial deputy boxing commissioner, recited to us recently at Woodlawn, and any time a wrestler, fighter or "tough egg" thinks he has Genial Mike "buffaloed" it is the cue for one of that ilk to commence hieing to the timbers. Mike is no piece of chinaware.

Two wrestlers, so Mike informed us, trotted to Woodlawn and one of them made friends with a fellow countryman; in fact, he cemented the friendship with honey-like words and it was not long until he succeeded, Mike alleges, in having this friend put up $1,000 on the result of the bout.

Tells Story to Mike

The bout came off and said friend was out $1,000. Somewhat disgusted with the world generally, he told his story to Mike, who happens to be a justice of the peace and one of the best revolver shots in America. It was not long until one of the alleged bimboes returned and everything was set for another bout.

This was Mike's cue. He sent for the gentlemen and when they arrived at his office he told them to enter a little room partitioned from the main office. Later Mike trotted into the private office and after joshing with the wrestlers told them emphatically: "No bout tonight, gentlemen, unless that $1,000 is returned."

Mike "Cures" Grappler

One of the grapplers grew rather chesty, looked over Mike's 175 pounds, then remarked: "Say, you can't pull that bluff on me. We're going to 'rassle'. Get me? It would take a lot of guys like youse to stop me." The grappler arose from his chair as though to toss Kane for a fall.

"Is that so?" was Mike's calm remark as he reached beneath his coat and leveled a big, shiny blue steel .44 at the man's eyes. "So that is the way you feel, eh? Well, listen, Mister, I'm coming to that show tonight and this is coming with me and I'll guarantee to stop any wrestler that steps on that mat." Result? No bout.

Not all wrestlers are participants of fake matches. Not by a jugful. There are as many square shooters in that game as any other branch of sport. One bad or crooked wrestler can kill off all good, square wrestlers in a city where there is a liking for the sport, and when conducted right, wrestling is good sport.

It's better to be a mediocre author than a great one. The great ones are all dead.

MICKEY WALKER

The National Boxing association has again taken drastic action in its treatment of a ring champion.

This time it was Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, against whom the action was taken. Walker has been suspended indefinitely by that body for failing to show any indication of defending his title.

Joe Dundee, featherweight titleholder, and Sammy Mandell, lightweight king, warned at the same time Walker was, are in the good graces of the association again, by virtue of their apparent willingness to get busy.

Ring Champion May Visit City

Loughran Will Come To City Some Time During Spring, It Is Likely

ONE OF AMERICA'S MOST POPULAR BOXERS

TOMMY LOUGHRAN, light-heavyweight champ and one of the most popular pugilists cavorting before the American public, may visit this city before summer, according to Johnny McCoy. The only barrier to his visit here will be important engagements.

Loughran and McCoy, fast friends, met several years ago on a railroad train hurrying east from Chicago. Tommy had fought in the west and Johnny had gone there on business. They struck up an acquaintanceship that now is a firm friendship.

McCoy recently told the News sports editor that during their discussion Tommy had told him he would like to appear here in a boxing bout providing there was a large enough place. However, there is not and his trip will be in the nature of a visit.

Perseverance Wins.

Tommy Loughran has fought his way from the bottom to the top through conscientious effort to reach the goal to which he aspired. Starting with a knockout over Eddie Carter in 1919, it was not long until he became a real attraction.

Later he met Bill Clark, Eddie Moran, Tommy Coyle then surged into Joe Welling, Vincent Lopez and met the middleweights Bryan Downey, George Shade, Lou Bogash and others famed in the roped square.

In 1925 he his his stride and won from Georges Carpentier, Jimmy Delaney, Martin Burke and Jack Dempsey trained to defend his title at Philadelphia, Tommy is reported to have boxed circles around the then champion.

Captures Championship.

Not so long ago he captured the light-heavyweight championship from Mike McTigue and in his first battle as a titular defender won from Leo Lomski, one of the toughest contenders he had. Although Tommy was floored he came back and flashed a winner.

New Castle has not only been famed for producing its own boxers but has been the mecca for a considerable number of other pugilists who have visited and trained here and, should Tommy find time to visit this city he is assured of a hearty welcome.

Troop 15 Stages Win From N. C. Dry

Troop 15 took a close game from the New Castle Dry Wednesday evening at the Carnegie auditorium when they succeeded in nosing out the New Castle's by a close score of 16 to 15.

At the end of the first half, the score was 10 to 2 in favor of the New Castle team, but due almost entirely to the playing of F. Howk of Troop 15, who scored 10 of his team's 16 points, the tables were turned, and Troop 15 emerged victorious.

The lineup:

Troop 15 16.		New Castle Dry 15.
Howk	F	Kneran
Herbold	F	Bright
O'Niel	C	Book
Stump	G	Lewis
Brown	G	Kerr

Substitutions—Jones, Patton, Kew, Right, B. Lewis.

Field Goals — Howk 5, O'Niel 1, Kneran 2, Right 2, Book 1, Lewis 1, Kerr 1.

Fouls—Troop 15, 4 out of 15; New Castle Dry, 1 out of 4.

Delts Win Easily In League Game At Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 23. —Before a large crowd of mothers and students who were celebrating mother's day, the Delta Phi Sigma Fraternity team won handily from the last year's championship Phi Pi team of Westminster's Intra Mural League. The score being 22 to 8.

The winners lead all the way and the game was fast throughout, although the Phi Pi's had great difficulty in solving the splendid five-man defense planned by the Delts.

At half time the score stood 10 to 4, and in the second half the Delts continued to pile-up their total. Judging from yesterday's game the Delts appear as the strongest contenders for this year's fraternity league title.

The lineup:

Delts 22		Phi Pi's 8
Lauder	F	T. Mansell
Mayer	F	McClure
Dennison	C	Colgrove
Furno	G	Cooper
Boone	G	B. Mansell

Substitutions—Cordes for Cooper, G. Marquis for T. Mansell, T. Mansell for G. Marquis, Cooper for B. Mansell, G. Marquis for McClure, R. Marquis for Neal, Neal for Colgrove. Delts—Wright for Mayer, Robinson for Boone, Williams for Furno, Collins for Lauder.

Field goals—Lauder 2, Mayer, Dennison, Furno, Boone, Wright McClure, Colgrove.

Fouls—Lauder 0-1, Dennison 5-6, Boone 1-1, Hall 1-1, Peresyni 1-2, T. Mansell 1-4, McClure, 2-3, B. Mansell 0-2, Cordes 0-6, G. Marquis 1-2.

Referee—Kelley, Kaps.

Umpires—Moore and Hartwell.

St. Francis College Team Is No Match For Fast-Going Titans

FINAL SCORE OF CONTEST IS 49-10

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—St. Francis college was no match for the Westminster Titans here last night and after the first 10 minutes of play Coach Lawther sent in his second team who continued to add to the lead, the varsity had and won the game by a 49-10 score.

Connor, Delahunty, Lewis and Ayers scored 20 points before they were taken out of the game, then the second string players were injected. Before the fray was over every player on the Westminster bench saw action and most of them scored. Crowell, who was substituted at center in the second half, replacing Armour who had gone in Connor's place, featured by scoring six baskets and two fouls to lead in scoring. McMeekin who went in at forward scored four baskets and one foul .Osborne, Witherspoon and W. Lewis also scored baskets.

At half time the score stood 26-4. The substitutes held the Saints to ten points while they ran the score up 23 points more.

This makes the 12th consecutive victory for the Titans and the 14th out of 15 games for the season. The Titans increased their total to 607 for the 15 games to 267 for opponents.

Neptune's Daughter — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Less than nineteen years ago there was born in far off Sweden a girl-child who was to develop into the greatest speed swimmer of her sex the world has ever seen. Her father, a prominent swimming instructor and physical culturist, determined that his daughter was to be a star athlete, and he developed her slowly and wisely so that today she is a more accomplished swimmer than Gertrude Ederle was at the same age, and has erased all but a couple of the famous Trudie's records from the books.

You will hear of this girl often this year, for she will be the mainstay of the United States women's swimming team at Antwerp. Just at present she is competing in the women's senior indoor championships at Buffalo, defending her titles, won a year ago, at 100, 200, and 500 yards, and the 400 yards relay. Martha Norelius, for that is the name of the young mermaid, also holds the outdoor championships at 100 meters, 440 and 880 yards, and one mile, 880-yard relay and long distance team race. (The last two titles, of course, she shares with her team-mates from the Women's Swimming Association of New York). There never was a youngster who could cut the water as she does or who shows the form, stamina, versatility, and fight that are so well combined in this sturdy Scandinavian miss.

Martha surprised everyone by winning the 400-meter free-style race at the Paris Olympics in 1924, defeating Gertrude Ederle. She seems a cinch to repeat at Amsterdam this summer.

Feg Murray Says—

Two New York chorus girls were sunning themselves on the hot sands of Miami Beach.

One wore a bathing-suit, and the other couldn't swim either.

Three Teams In Race For Eastern Basketball Title

Dartmouth, Princeton And Penn Fighting For Eastern Floor Championship

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—With the half-way mark passed, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania and Princeton are the only teams which have a chance to capture the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League title. All three of the leaders won last night.

Penn and Princeton are tied for second place, one game behind Dartmouth. If Penn beats Dartmouth at Hanover next Saturday and Princeton defeates Cornell, a triple tie for first place will result.

MANDELL FAVORED TO DEFEAT FIELDS

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion of the world, rules a 7 to 5 favorite to beat Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, in the ten-round feature event at the Coliseum tonight. Mandell's title will not be at stake. Fields will weigh 140 pounds and Sammy four or five pounds lighter.

Overlands Too Strong For Akron Quintet; B. & O. Defeats Penn-State

The Rick-Overland team defeated the Columbia Chemicals of Akron, 39 to 31, in a well played game at the Y. M. C. A. floor. In the preliminary game the B. & O. team defeated the Penn-State team, 18 to 13, in a City League engagement.

The Overlands had a tough assignment in their battle with the Akron quintet, and at the end of the first half the score favored the locals, 20 to 14. The Overlands came through with a fast attack in the final half that netted them a victory by eight points. Hartman, Nocera and Carmody were the star performers for the Overlands, with work of Prirts and Izo the best for the Akron Chemicals.

In the preliminary game the B. & O. team showed to good advantage by dropping the fast Penn-State team, 18 to 13. The tally at the end of the first half stood at 13 to 0 in favor of the B. & O. boys. Reed, Suber and Diffley were the stars for the B. & O. Hood and Robinson were the best bets for the losers.

The summaries:

Contentment by the pipe-load

EVERY load of P. A. in your pipe is a load of sunshine in your smoke-system. Why do you suppose more Prince Albert is smoked than any other brand? I'll tell you. When you open a tidy red tin and set free that P. A. aroma, you're on your way.

When you taste that first, wonderful pull on your pipe, you've arrived. Cool as the keel of a river-boat. Refreshing as a breeze on the top deck. Mellow and mild and long-burning, with a body that puts satisfaction right over the plate every time.

Take the nearest path to pipe-joy. Go get yourself a tidy red tin of good old P. A. That's all there is to this business of finding the right combination to contentment. You'll say so after that first fragrant pipe-load of this delightful tobacco.

This tin contains TWO full ounces of top-notch smoke-joy.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Apparently there is plenty of money in baseball and the moguls are not afraid to part with it, according to a report from New York, which says that Ty Cobb, the Georgia Peach, has been signed by the Giants at a salary of $50,000. So far the report has not been confirmed. Rogers Hornsby today is also reported as having attached his signature to a paper which will net him $40,000, a year with the Boston Braves.

Frankie Rio will come to New Castle one or two days in advance to complete his training for his bout with Johnny Pollock. Jimmie Dunn will accompany the clever featherweight and will demonstrate to fans his system of developing fighters. Probability is also expressed that Pollock will be asked to come here to complete his preparatory work and if both do they will be assigned different hours to train at the Old Armory.

After six years of retirement, Harold Cutbill of Boston, known as the "Flying Parson" came in third at the Masonic benefit meet held in New York city yesterday. The race was for 800 meters and was won by Pincus Sober. Five yards behind Sober came Eddie Swinburne. Bob McAllister, the "flying cop" captured the special 80 and 90 yard sprints, second place went to Bob Weise and Roland Locke, Nebraska star, took third place. Locke held the lead at the start but was passed half way to the finish by McAllister and Wiese.

Mickie Walker, middleweight champion of the world, won the award from Jack Willis at San Francisco last night but he had to come from behind in the eighth round to pound Willis groggy and take the decision of a bout witnessed by 12,000 fans. Willis was a surprise package to Walker as he had been picked to lose by a knockout. The Texan carried the fight to the champion in the early rounds and fought and outpunched the king in the third and sixth frames. Stiff blows to the face and body, however, turned the tide in the eighth.

Chick Hafey probably will sign his contract with the St. Louis Cards after returning to St. Louis where he expects to arrive next week. The star outfielder recently was reported as being in "first-class condition". He was a spectator at a ball game in Berkeley, Calif., Wednesday and said he would take a train east, Monday.

Evidently Tex Rickard is loath to let Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, desert the ring and Gotham dispatches last night indicated that the promoter has requested Dempsey to confer with him in Philadelphia. It is further reported that Jack will journey to Quakertown next month and go into a huddle with Tex and then the world will know definitely if Dempsey has hung up the gloves for all time.

For the second successive year, Emile St. Goddard, 21-year-old musher of The Pas, Manitoba, has captured the annual international dog derby, 128 miles in three days. He covered the last 41 mile grind in three hours and 39 minutes. New Castle would have been a splendid place for mushing last night.

Young Perry who is scheduled to box Jack Drake, the Sharon gridder at the Old Armory, Monday night, hopes to knock out Drake then take on Jimmie Kilpatrick, according to Joe Cumo. "Both are from Ellwood City and the match would be for the lightweight title. I believe Perry has a future and he will get his first start Monday. He is training with Emmett Rocco and will be in good condition" remarked Cumo today who also reported that Rocco is now ready to go against Joe Sekyra, Mike McTigue or any of the boys who want to punch with the Tarzan of the Connoquenessing.

New Wilmington report received here today stated that the Blue and White rode roughshod over St. Francis college last night. The St. Francis team did not match up with the clever Westminster team coached by Johnny Lawther. The score was 46 to 10 which shows the difference in class between the two teams.

Sewickley high clinched the championship of Section Two of the W. P. I. A. league last night by defeating Bellevue 32 to 18 at Bellevue.

Frank Lockhart, internationally known auto race driver escaped death yesterday at Daytona Beach when he lost control of his powerful Stutz Blackhawk during an attempt to set a new world's auto speed record and hurled with it into the sea while going 225 miles an hour. He was pinned to the seat by the steel frame which was stove in by the impact of the waves but fortunately it turned, right side up, after a somersault from the beach speedway and today he is suffering from shock and minor injuries.

News item says aged man aimed a gun at his temple, but missed and shot off his ear. Sounds like a retired umpire.

Cen. Christians Defeat Falcons

The Central Christian team of the New Castle church league defeated the Polish Falcons 29 to 15 in a game played at the Falcon floor Tuesday night.

The Falcons took the lead in the first few minutes of play and held it throughout the game. At the end of the first half the score favored the Central Christians 15 to 11.

The playing of Neyman, E. Bauman and A. Bauman featured for the Christians, with Kolodjeski and Frankovitch the best for the losers.

The summary:

Polish Falcons 15		Cen. Christians 29
Kolodjeski	F	Thomas
Frankovitch	F	Neyman
Psyenny	C	E. Bauman
J. Ludwick	G	A. Bauman
Judek	G	Shook

Subs—Johnson, Luki, Shaffer.

Field goals—Kolodjeski 2, Frankovitch 2, Psyenny, Ludwick, Thomas 2, Neyman 4, E. Bauman 4, A. Bauman 2.

Fouls—Falcons 1 out of 7, Central Christians 5 out of 12.

Referee—Golis.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Motor Cop Collides With Fire Engine

Motorcycle Officer Ray Richards was slightly injured on the knee last night and his motorcycle and the Knox fire engine were damaged somewhat, when his motorcycle skidded into the rear of the Knox fire engine at East and East Washington streets as he was trying to head off the fire engine and direct it to the scene of the fire on Norris Way.

He had answered the alarm from box 25 about midnight and when no fire could be found in that district he prepared to start back to the office. At the office of the P. & O. Officer Golis informed him that the fire chief had located the fire at the old Genkinger building, Lawrence street and Norris Way.

He started after the Knox fire engine, which was returning to central station, going east on Washington street, to tell the men in charge where the fire was. He overtook the truck as it reached East street and applied the brakes. The street was slushy and his machine skidded into the rear end of the truck. The sidecar of his machine was badly damaged, while a fire extinguisher holder on the fire engine was knocked off, also part of the rear step equipment and the tail light damaged.

Camden Fire Is $100,000 Loss

(International News Service)

CAMDEN, Feb. 23.—In a spectacular two-hour blaze, which routed scores of families from their homes and lighted up the entire waterfront, five firms suffered $100,000 loss early today. The fire started in the woolen stock of the Blue and Gray Textile Company.

Name Referees For Intra-Mural Games

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—Referees for the intra-mural basketball games at Westminster were announced Tuesday by Director Jack Hulme. The men who will handle the fraternity court games are Hal Williams, Homestead; Howard Kelly, New Castle; James Mayer, New York City; William Clark, New Wilmington; Wayne Phillips, Meadville; John Hall, Youngstown; Stephen Havrilla, Braddock; William Hartwell, New Wilmington; Donald McClure, Blairsville; Aubrey More, Walton, N. Y., and Walter Hutchinson, New Wilmington.

The intra-mural series started here yesterday afternoon and will run thru the month of March. The schedule of games and all arrangements have been made by Faculty Director John Lawther and Gymnasium Director Jack Hulme.

Floor Notes

The South Side Merchants defeated the Tip Tops 44 to 21, in a game played last night at the Arthur McGill school court. For the Merchants the work of Neyman, Eardley, and Parker was the best, with McIntosh and Dewberry the best performers for the Tip Tops. The South Side Merchants will meet the Senior B. team of the Senior High school tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Senior High court.

All members of the Liberty Five team are asked to report tonight at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., to make arrangements for the big stag party to be held by the team. The following are asked to be present: Parker, Kearns, Clark, Nocera, Kroen, Reiber, Hannon and Coach Coen. The game with the Beaver Falls Church League team has been postponed from tonight until Saturday night.

Savoia Big Five will clash with the Mahoningtown A. A. on Friday night at the House of Savoia floor. The Casa Savoia boys have won twenty-five games and lost eight. The Savoia Juniors will play the Mystery Five in a preliminary game on Friday night.

The Casa Savoia quintet this year has defeated the following teams: Lincoln Aces of Youngstown, Central Christians, Italian Stars, Trojans, Union Alumni, Croton M. E., South Side Merchants, Marshalls, Shenango Pottery, Masury Tigers, New Castle Business College, Houser-Kennedys, South Side Market, Polish Falcons, Tin Mill, B. & O., and Temple Israel. The following teams hold victories over the Savoia boys: Shamrocks, Falcons, New Wilmington Scholastics, Senior B's., Temple Israel, Trojans and Cooksey Express.

Trade School Five Tops Seniors 27-25

In a fast battle staged on the Ben Franklin High floor on Wednesday night, the Trade School quintet defeated the Senior A team of Senior High school 27 to 25.

The Trade School boys took the lead in the first quarter of the game and held their lead throughout. The Seniors were playing a defensive game which led to many fouls, and the Traders gained eleven points via the free-toss line.

In the matter of field goals the Trade School boys were sadly off color, caging but eight baskets while the Seniors scored eleven field goals. Johns and Kenst were the big scorers for the Trade School, with Lackey and Mancine the best for the Seniors.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Trade School team will play the fast Butler Scholastic at the Franklin court.

The summary:

Trade School 27		Senior A's 25
Johns	F	Mancine
Jenkins	F	Mansfield
Stewart	C	Lackey
Shook	G	Paulini
Watson	G	Sage

Field goals—Johns 3, Kenst 3, Shook 1, Jenkins 1, Mancine 4, Mansfield 2, Lackey 5.

Fouls—Trade School, 11 out of 13. Senior A's 3 out of 7.

Substitutions—Kenst for Stewart, Sankey for Mansfield, Soyring for Paulini.

Referee—Rcioppoo, Slippery Rock.

Police Officers Sees Woman Struck By Auto

Officer James was standing at the corner of East Washington and East streets last night, when he saw two ladies crossing from the curb at the City building to Neshannock avenue.

Just at that time Jack McDevitt, driving east on Washington street, made a short turn onto Neshannock avenue, and as he did so his car struck one of the women, Miss Mary Klamar, of Mt. Jackson, the bumper of the machine picking her up and carrying her two or three feet. The other woman was a Mrs. Klamar. Miss Mary Klamar was apparently not seriously hurt.

The ladies and McDevitt were taken to the police station and directed to appear in the office of the chief of police today.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Tuesday's closing rally in the steel, motor and industrial stocks was carried into the first period today, and with few exceptions the active shares started the day at a higher range of prices. The improvement continued throughout the first hour, though advances were mostly fractional, and price movements were dominated mostly by the activities of the professionals. Trading was restricted somewhat by the desire of the speculative community to await the weekly Reserve Bank statement on brokers' loans after the close today.

Stocks were freely supplied to the market near the end of first hour, short covering having been completed, apparently, for the time being.

SALLY'S SALLIES

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN.
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

The other day a veteran major league player in discussing the changes in the conduct of baseball of recent years expressed the opinion that the stress laid upon capable coaching staffs by major league clubs was beneficial to the young players just breaking into the big time.

And now there is the other side of the matter—from a young pitcher who has been sent back to the minors for another year, with strict orders to follow out a revamped pitching motion taught him last fall by the manager and coach of a big league club.

"I don't know whether the new pitching motion is going to improve my pitching or hurt it" said this young player. "I am certainly going to try it out. Those fellows who draw their salaries for teaching the young rook how to pitch ought to know their stuff.

"But after watching them work and talking with other youngsters who have had the same experience, I am of the opinion that some of the changes they recommend and suggestions they made are given because they have got to find something wrong once in a while to make their jobs look good.

"It seems to be that I should have been allowed to show what stuff I had in one or two unimportant games before the coachs started making me over. Why presume that the delivery I had in the minors last year wouldn't carry me through the majors? Of course if it had been a case of telegraphing or tipping off my delivery I would have been glad to correct that immediately. But the moment I started pitching to batters in practice the coaches decide that I ought to be throwing overhand instead of with the side arm movement.

"I haven't mastered the new motion yet. Don't know how it will work out. As far as the big league club is concerned they have no definite idea as to how effective my old motion really was.

"This can't be taken as an alibi because I haven't failed to deliver as yet. But I've got to spend another year learning a new pitching delivery and mastering control with it before I can get a chance to show big league fans what I can do."

The same player cites the cases of two or three other youngsters handled in similar fashion.

These players have a right to wonder whether or not the game is becoming a bit too "efficient' for its own good.

Rescue Workers Still In Mine

Four Bodies Yet To Be Removed From New Kensington Mine

(International News Service)

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Feb. 23.—Rescue workers hoped to recover four remaining bodies of victims of the Kinloch mine explosion today. During the night five bodies were brought to the surface, making a total of eight recovered.

At the mine mouth the five bodies were identified as those of Harley Bell, John Clark, William Ivory and Wes Blackman, negroes, and John Pool, pump operator. Two of them died from suffocation and the others from the force of the explosion.

Rescuers felt certain they would soon come upon the bodies of Charles Wise and Andrew Streter which are still in the Kinloch mine. Other searchers are combing the passages of the adjoining Boyd mine, to which the deadly gasses penetrated, for two unidentified victims.

The blast at the Valley Camp Coal Company's Kinloch mine and its communicating devastation in the adjoining Boyd Brick Company mine left 15 children orphans. State mine inspectors are endeavoring to ascertain the cause of the explosion.

Boy Scout News

The weekly meeting of Elks troop 5 will be held this evening in the club beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Scoutmaster Ralph F. Davis will be in charge of the meeting and he urges all members of the troop to be present as important practicing must be gone in preparation for the Scout circus. Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Counter Suits In Auto Damage Case Get Rare Verdict

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Feb. 23.—No verdict in Mercer county court in years has attracted so much notice as the suit of Fred Keck of Greenville, v s. Arthur Nelson of Grove City and a counter suit in which Keck was made the defendant.

The case arose out of an automobile accident in Greenville and both men filed suits against the other. The two cases were tried together and the jury rendered a verdict for the defendant in each case which means that neither man collected any damages and each must pay his own costs.

In the case of Frank Capano who has been in jail for a year or more following a trial on a charge of bombing the home of Fred Fisher in Farrell, Pa., in February, 1925 a new trial has been granted. He was tried in April 1927 but it is climed that the statute of limitations had expired by that time and the trial was not proper. A new trial was asked and refused but has now been granted. If the statute of limitations is used in the case attempted arson will be charged according to District Attorney Leo McKay the statute of limitations in this charge being five years.

TO ADD WORKMEN.

(International News Service)

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 23.—Employment for an additional 125 men will result from conversion of the No. 2 tank of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company from the cylinder to the machine sheet drawn process of manufacturing window glass, it was announced today. The work is now under way and will involve the expenditure of about $500,000.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Meet Senator Edwin K. Logan, customers. The senator from Neshannock township, out in the great open spaces where men are men and the boys grow up to be caddies.

Up until a few nights ago Senator Logan was just Attorney Logan, but a banquet in Aliquippa, nee Woodlawn, Pa., hung the title of senator on him and it stuck just like a hatful of glue.

With Pat Dempsey and some of the other Legion men Mr. Logan went to Aliquippa to attend a banquet and he wore his most recent acquisition, a genuine Abyssinian racoon coat. The men down there figured that only a college student or a statesman would wear a coat like that, and in introducing him the toastmaster called upon Senator Logan.

Nobody asked where he was from, what district he represented, or whether he was a state or United States senator. They just accepted the appellation as it stood and it's now Senator Logan.

He insists that the banquet was in Woodlawn, when as a matter of fact there is no such place now, it's Aliquippa. Later investigation developed the fact that the senator cannot spell Aliquippa and is still using the old name.

As for that genuine Abyssinian racoon coat, it has to be seen to be appreciated. With the coat on Senator Logan just fits a normel doorway, and if he ever gets into a swinging door with it, the chances are he'll make a lot of round trips before he gets out.

Asked his opinion on the McNary-Haugen bill while at the banquet, Senator Logan replied that he was more interested in his electric light bill. This was a rather shocking statement, but the senator believes in truth at any cost, with the fine remitted.

What a lovely evening Wednesday produced. Lovely if you stayed in and hugged the gas log. But outside it was as mean as original sin. Six inches of squoozy slush ice on the walks and streets that just hung onto your shoes like a bad debt. Fortunately it didn't freeze, otherwise the repair men would have the S. R. O. sign out today.

This is the night for the annual banquet of the Lawrence County Bar Association, and from little things that have leaked out in the past few days, some of the lawyers are going to be done to a dark brown crisp. A lawyer can't afford to be absent tonight, for the absentees are going to get panned just a trifle extra. It will be a gridiron affair, which speaks for itself.

It's also the night for the banquet of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics. At least two of The News force won't have to buy any dinner tonight.

A dollar goes a long way today in New Castle stores. You can buy most anything up to a kitchen stove for a dollar and as soon as this is written I'm going out to give a look for a new suit for a dollar.

Powerful, Penetrating Antiseptic Oil Heals Eczema and Other Skin Diseases

Must Give Results in 7 Days or Money Back, Says McKee's Kut Rate, New Castle Drug Co., McKinley & Frantz, Eckerd's of N. C., Inc.

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin a real chance to get well.

You've probably been like a lot of other people convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good) but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores and the condition primarily remains the same.

Go to McKee's Kut Rate Store, New Castle Drug Co., McKinley & Frantz, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. or any other good druggist today and get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil.

The very first application will give you relief and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

Don't expect a single bottle to do it all at once but one bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered the way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moone's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating Antiseptic Oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue and that it must give complete satisfaction or your money cheerfully refunded.

Help Relieve Rheumatic Pains And Agony At Small Cost

It's here, right in town and every live druggist is selling lots of it.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from helping to relieve the agony of pain-tormented, swollen, rheumatic joints.

Joint-Ease is the name, so-called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving inflamed, tortured joints.

It is a soothing, penetrating emollient that you can rub on often and by so doing get comfort and relief more quickly, when the joint is inflamed and the agony intense.

Being a counter irritant, it usually brings speedy and helpful relief in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia, while for tired, aching, burning feet its comforting influence will be appreciated.

No matter where you live, anywhere in America, ask your druggist about the goodness of Joint-Ease. A tube costs but 60 cents. You can always get Joint-Ease at McKee's Kut Rate Store.

FREE Send name and address for large generous tube (12 days treatment) to Pope Laboratories, Desk 12 Hallowell, Maine.
